SHOW CROWDS AWAIT BEAUTY CONTESTS Council Mum On Sewer Rate Measure

'Quickie' Move To Adjourn Delays Action

Robinson Says Vote Must Be Taken At Meeting On Nov. 1

Despite the efforts of Councilman John Robinson to "get this thing settled before the election", city council Tuesday night gave the silent treatment to a pending ordinance that would revise and hike the city sewer rates.

The measure was up for third and final reading at council's previous meeting, but Council President Ben Gordon at that time explained the lawmaking body did not have enough members present to "act on such an important matter." Tuesday night, with its full roster, council again delayed action — this time without public comment.

A short time before adjournment, when it became apparent the sewer rate measure was again tagged for delay, Robinson huddled with other members of the lawmaking group to urge immediate action. He planned to carry his argument into formal discussion, but a swift motion for adjournment blocked his strategy.

The ordinance would, for the first time in the city's history, base sewer rates on the amount of water used. It was originally designed to help finance leadoff steps in a major sewer improvement program.

SINCE THAT time, however, it has become the center for a general hassle over the condition of the city's sewer network, and how the system can best be extended and modernized.

After his colleagues, with grins and chuckles, had rushed through the "quickie" adjournment motion, Robinson said:

"We should have had a vote on that ordinance tonight, and council knows it. I'm very much disappointed, because we all know that this important proposal must not be allowed to linger without a decision until after next month's elections (Nov. 8).

"That would be very unfair to the public. Certainly by council's next meeting, on Nov. 1, we should be prepared to stand up and be counted.

"Frankly I don't know how I'll vote on it. It may have some good points, I'm not sure. But at any rate the vote should not have been delayed as long as it has been."

Latin American Leader Dies At 68

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Carlos Davila, secretary general of the Organization of American States, died today.

The 68-year-old Chilean statesman-writer had been seriously ill since last June when he underwent an operation for a kidney ailment. A heart attack last Sunday hastened his death.

The operation disclosed that Dr. Davila suffered from cancer. But he refused to give up and did much of his work almost to the end of his colorful career.

Reds To Retain Traffic Control

LONDON (AP) — Russia, which granted Communist East Germany sovereignty Sept. 29, will continue to control "for the present" military traffic between West Germany and West Berlin.

A note to this effect, broadcast by the Moscow radio, has been sent the Western Big Three. It replied to a U. S. - British - French note of Oct. 3 warning Russia it would still be held responsible for keeping isolated Berlin free and open to the West.

Council Studies Possible Action Against Illegal Sewer Hookups

A warning from a local greenhouse Tuesday night sent city council into a long and worried discussion on one of the semi-silent problems that has haunted Circleville for many years.

The problem is what to do about storm water that is sent into the already burdened sanitary sewer system, and how to detach sanitary sewer lines from the storm sewer network. The tangle developed, councilmen admit, because "for a long time a property owner was allowed to tap whatever sewer happened to be most convenient."

Harry Coss, speaking for the city service department in the absence of Service Director Dewey Speakman, who is ill, warned the lawmakers that illegal sewer tapping "is still going on—lots of it."

COSS LATER explained: "Many times these unauthorized taps are made without asking us anything about it. And the work is finished before anybody even bothers to tell us."

"Many times the sewer is covered up again before they bother to let us know!"

The discussion grew from a letter sent to council by Brehmer's Greenhouse on N. Court St.

Mothers' Demand To Be Heeded

DETROIT (AP) — Mothers of school children in suburban Taylor Township have won their fight for a traffic light at a busy intersection on U. S. 24.

Angered by the death of a popular eighth grade teacher in a collision at the intersection Monday, more than 100 mothers set up a blockade at the scene yesterday. They carried placards reading "Michigan's Slaughterhouse", "Save Our Kids", "We Want That Light."

Cars and trucks were held up for nearly 10 minutes.

Later the State Highway Department said plans for a traffic signal near the township school have been given "highest priority."

Air-O-Meter Ends 'Pink Elephants'

COLUMBUS (AP) — If you're the tipsy type that usually has one drink too many at the tavern, now you can literally breathe easier.

Hy Koppelman, president of a soft-drink firm here, has invented what he calls an "air-o-meter." You drop a quarter in the machine, put an attached mask over your nose and mouth, and inhale pure oxygen for five minutes.

That, said Koppelman, should bring you out of pink elephant land. He adds:

"Of course, sometimes it'll take two quarters to do it."

Elmon E. Richards Leases Elevator To Lloyd Siberell

Elmon E. Richards, who came to Circleville 18 years ago from Chillicothe and entered the farm implement business, has sold out his interests and will devote his time to farming.

Lloyd Siberell has leased the West Side Elevator from Richards. Richards operated the elevator for three years.

Richards entered local business at 325 E. Main street, handling the Allis Chalmers farm implement line. Nine years ago he erected a fine building at Mingo and Main Streets and added GMC trucks to his offerings. He then bought the John Deere agency from Bishop Hill at Corwin and Mill Streets, taking over that location and leasing his Main St. property to Griffith's.

Richards is high in his praise of the city as a place of real opportunity for business men of foresight and willingness to work. Circleville, he said, far exceeded the expectations he entertained when he came here.

Jail Escapees Knife 3 Persons

ST. CLAIRSVILLE (AP) — A jailer and two trustees in the Belmont County Jail were knifed today as they fought two inmates, one of whom escaped.

Deputy Sheriff Wayne Street said breakfast was being served in the jail at 7 a. m. when Charles Carman, 26, and Russell Gibbons, 38, made their escape attempt.

He said Carman fled out a door when barred doors were unlocked to serve the breakfast. Gibbons was overpowered by Jailer Knox Alexander and two trustees. In the struggle, Gibbons slashed the jailer and the two trustees with a paring knife. None of the wounds was serious.

Hurricane Katie Runs Out Of Wind

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Katie ran out of wind far out in the Atlantic today and spread out into an area of squalls.

The season's 11th tropical storm was last reported about 330 miles south-southwest of Bermuda and 850 miles east of the Florida coast.

It was spinning north-northeast at about 21 mph, but had winds of only 40 miles an hour.

Few tropical storms develop after Oct. 15 and forecasters believe Katie might well be the last of the 1955 season.

Quirk Of Fate, Lawyer's Lie To Bring Woman $260,000

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman whose husband vanished after two weeks of marriage 40 years ago now has learned to her astonishment that she probably will inherit $260,000 from his estate.

And, through another strange quirk of fate, her chance of doing so results from the fact that a lawyer once falsely told her he had obtained a divorce for her.

The woman, long since happily remarried, is Mrs. Myra Duck of Brooklyn.

She never heard from her first husband after he left her until she learned that she likely will inherit more than half his estate.

She was married to Helge Nelson in 1917. In the years after he left her, he built up a thriving auto parts business in Brooklyn. Then he retired, moved to Miami and died.

Twenty years after Nelson deserted her, his wife met and fell in love with Frank L. Duck.

She told him of her marriage and he suggested that she have a lawyer obtain a divorce. She contacted an attorney, who told her the divorce would be no trouble, inasmuch as her husband had deserted her.

Not long afterward, the lawyer told her the divorce had been obtained. She then married Duck.

When Nelson died without leaving a will, authorities began a search for possible heirs. They located a sister in Brooklyn and found records of his marriage but no divorce.

Finally Mrs. Duck was found and, to her great surprise, told that she had never been divorced from Nelson. Her lawyer had collected a fee and done nothing.

As a result, she was left the legal widow of Nelson and under state law is entitled to half his $500,000 estate, plus an additional $10,000.

Mrs. Duck can not be charged with bigamy since New York state law specifies that where a prior spouse has died, the second marriage automatically becomes legal.

Council Hikes Pay For Police Chief

Ordinance Is Seen First Step To Detach Him From Bailiff Job

City council Tuesday night reached agreement on the first step in a plan to detach Police Chief Elmer Merriman from his duties as bailiff for city court.

The lawmakers passed, on first reading, an ordinance that raises Merriman's pay as police chief by $60 a month. For his work as chief, he has been receiving $300 a month.

In addition, he now handles the work of bailiff for $800 a year, but City Safety Director Miller Fissell has repeatedly protested that this job requires too much of the chief's time. Fissell pointed out the matter has been made especially serious because of difficulty in keeping the police department personnel up to its authorized limits.

The ordinance granting the pay boost will go into effect after the customary 30-day period.

BY THAT time, it was understood, further steps will be taken to relieve Merriman of the bailiff work. He will have to file formal resignation from that job, and then City Court Judge Sterling Lamb will appoint the new bailiff. Fissell pointed out that under the new arrangement, Merriman will make less money per year than he now receives. He now receives $4,400 annually, and his pay under the new setup will be $4,320.

Councilman George Crites moved for passage of the ordinance Tuesday night on first reading. He told council:

"I think we all know about this thing. We want to get Chief Merriman away from that bailiff job so he can give more time to the department."

"In effect, the new setup will give the department another policeman or two, and I feel we should act on this (ordinance) now."

Fissell, like Crites, stressed the fact that the chief will be able to devote much more of his time to his police work.

The measure was passed by a vote of 6-0. Councilman Lee Cook, who had just been seated to replace Ray Cook, who has moved from Circleville, exclaimed he would have to pass up the voting because he had not had time to familiarize himself with the matter.

Canadian Doubts U.S. To Understand

SINGAPORE (AP) — Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said today he explained some of the American point of view during his recent visit to the Soviet Union but he doubts he's up to explaining the Russians to the United States.

Pearson, here on a world tour, told the Singapore Rotary Club that one Russian official had suggested to him that Canada's geographic position should make it the "ham in the sandwich" between Russia and the United States.

To that, the Canadian continued, First Deputy Premier L. M. Kaganovich suggested a "bridge" would be a better description of the Canadian position.

Russian Newsmen Visit Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Six touring newsmen from Russia ventured into Wall Street yesterday to see at first hand what Soviet newspapers have long viewed as a place of very sinister influence indeed.

They came away saying they had had a very nice time.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, met the group.

One of the visitors wanted to know why the United States has not learned to control the business cycle. Funston replied that a free economy, where prices adjust on an open market, has advantages that outweigh any disadvantages from slumps.

Big Battleship Stuck On Mud Bank

NEW YORK (AP) — The huge battleship Wisconsin was stranded on a mud bank in New York Harbor for nearly an hour yesterday after a strong tide pushed her aground while she was being towed to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Sixteen tugs pulled the 45,000-ton vessel free at the mouth of the East River, some 500 feet off the tip of Manhattan.

The Navy said the ship, which is 885 feet long, apparently suffered no harm. The Wisconsin was under control of a civilian pilot and being towed by civilian tugs when the grounding occurred.

Judges To Pick Winners At W. Main Stand

Colville Has Hopes For 200,000 Total Show Attendance

Keyed to excited pitch by the two beauty contests that will highlight the opening day program, Circleville's 49th annual Pumpkin Show rang up its curtain today to the solemn notes of the Foreman chiming.

Opening ceremonies were held at Court and Main shortly after the musical notes from the courthouse tower announced the start of another great celebration at 2 p. m. Selection of a Little Miss Pumpkin Show was scheduled for 4:30 p. m., and the show's queen and her attendants will be picked tonight at 8:30 p. m.

Both beauty contests will open with a parade, featuring the gorgeous contestants. Nearly 60 beautiful first-grade girls are competing for the title of princess, while 15 high school girls are listed to seek the queen's crown.

The judging for both the afternoon and evening events will be at the W. Main St. stand, near Scioto St.

WARNED THAT Pumpkin Show weather this year may stay on the chilly side, but cheered by the announcement that even heavy rains would not be allowed to stop the four-day program, show fans began converging on Circleville from all over the county early today.

Thousands of others from distant points had already arrived in the city for their traditional "Pumpkin Show visit."

Bob Colville, the top show booster for many years as "Mr. Pumpkin Show", said this year's total attendance may reach 200,000 "if we get a break from the weather." Last year's attendance, he said, reached 180,000.

High mark so far, according to most Pumpkin Show veterans, was set in 1949 when 235,000 people squeezed their hilarious way into the city for the world-famous fiesta.

Among top attractions early Thursday will be the pet parade and judging of entries, scheduled to start at 2 p. m. The big Lodge and Musical Parade will be a top feature Thursday evening, being scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m.

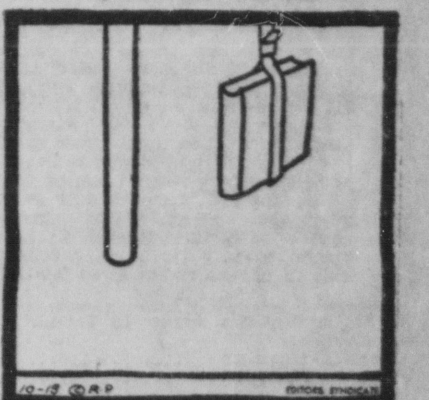

Early Pie-Baking Winners Listed

Mrs. Wilbur Neff of Ashville Route 2 won first place in the merchandise division of Wednesday's Bake-A-Pumpkin-Pie Contest.

Mrs. Don Miller of Circleville Route 1 took top honors in the opening contest for the very ingredient division. Both winners also took top prizes in the daily contests in last year's Pumpkin Show.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"BOY GOING TO SCHOOL ON POGO STICK"

This clever Droodle sent in by Robert L. Foster of Wichita, Kansas, gives me an idea for curing the country's traffic problem. Why not do away with all forms of transportation except Pogo Sticks? Auto Companies could retool and turn out Hard-Top Two-tone Pogo Sticks of even Station Wagon Models with simulated Knotty Pine Poles. Think of the fun families would have getting together on Sunday Afternoon and going for a bounce in the country. Playboys could buy low slung Pogos with two-foot poles and Teen-Agers could build their own Hot-Rod Pogos. And remember, for the price of one car, you can buy 600 Pogo Sticks. That should be enough to keep you "Hoppy" for the rest of your life.

Fissell pointed out the matter has been made especially serious because of difficulty in keeping the police department personnel up to its authorized limits.

The ordinance granting the pay boost will go into effect after the customary 30-day period.

BY THAT time, it was understood, further steps will be taken to relieve Merriman of the bailiff work. He will have to file formal resignation from that job, and then City Court Judge Sterling Lamb will appoint the new bailiff.

Fissell pointed out that under the new arrangement, Merriman will make less money per year than he now receives. He now receives $4,400 annually, and his pay under the new setup will be $4,320.

Councilman George Crites moved for passage of the ordinance Tuesday night on first reading. He told council:

"I think we all know about this thing. We want to get Chief Merriman away from that bailiff job so he can give more time to the department."

"In effect, the new setup will give the department another po-

2 Youths Killed In Auto Crash

COLUMBUS (AP) — A young Air Force man and a civilian were killed, and a third airman injured, early today when their car struck a bridge abutment and overturned alongside Big Walnut Creek.

A deputy identified the dead as Airman 3c David J. Brock, 22, of Cleveland, attached to the 91st A&E Maintenance Squadron, Lockbourne AFB, and George M. Young, 22, of Columbus.

Injured and reported in fair condition was Airman Annis Casetta, 18, of Fond du Lac, Wis., attached to the same squadron as Brock.

Stray Sauce From The Pumpkin

Pickaway County District Library warned its patrons it will be closing early during the Pumpkin Show. For the remainder of the week, the library will close each day at 5 p. m.

One of the "rides" being set up on N. Court St. boasts that it "defies gravity." Obviously, with enough of that sort of thing, this show can truly "set the town jumpin'."

Canadian Doubts U.S. To Understand

SINGAPORE (AP) — Canadian Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said today he explained some of the American point of view during his recent visit to the Soviet Union but he doubts he's up to explaining the Russians to the United States.

Pearson, here on a world tour, told the Singapore Rotary Club that one Russian official had suggested to him that Canada's geographic position should make it the "ham in the sandwich" between Russia and the United States.

To that, the Canadian continued, Third Deputy Premier L. M. Kaganovich suggested a "bridge" would be a better description of the Canadian position.

Russian Newsmen Visit Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — Six touring newsmen from Russia ventured into Wall Street yesterday to see at first hand what Soviet newspapers have long viewed as a place of very sinister influence indeed.

They came away saying they had had a very nice time.

Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, met the group.

One of the visitors wanted to know why the United States has not learned to control the business cycle. Funston replied that a free economy, where prices adjust on an open market, has advantages that outweigh any disadvantages from slumps.

Big Battleship Stuck On Mud Bank

NEW YORK (AP) — The huge battleship Wisconsin was stranded on a mud bank in New York Harbor for nearly an hour yesterday after a strong tide pushed her aground while she was being towed to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Sixteen tugs pulled the 45,000-ton vessel free at the mouth of the East River, some 500 feet off the tip of Manhattan.

The Navy said the ship, which is 885 feet long, apparently suffered no harm. The Wisconsin was under control of a civilian pilot and being towed by civilian tugs when the grounding occurred.

Judges To Pick Winners At W. Main Stand

Colville Has Hopes For 200,000 Total Show Attendance

Keyed to excited pitch by the two beauty contests that will highlight the opening day program, Circleville's 49th annual Pumpkin Show rang up its curtain today to the solemn notes of the Foreman chimers.

Opening ceremonies were held at Court and Main shortly after the musical notes from the courthouse tower announced the start of another great celebration at 2 p. m. Selection of a Little Miss Pumpkin Show was scheduled for 4:30 p. m., and the show's queen and her attendants will be picked tonight at 8:30 p. m.

Both beauty contests will open with a parade, featuring the gorgeous contestants. Nearly 60 beautiful first-grade girls are competing for the title of princess, while 15 high school girls are listed to seek the queen's crown.

The judging for both the afternoon and evening events will be at the W. Main St. stand, near Scioto St.

WARNED THAT Pumpkin Show weather this year may stay on the chilly side, but cheered by the announcement that even heavy rains would not be allowed to stop the four-day program, show fans began converging on Circleville from all over the county early today.

Thousands of others from distant points had already arrived in the city for their traditional "Pumpkin Show visit."

Bob Colville, the top show booster for many years as "Mr. Pumpkin Show," said this year's total attendance may reach 200,000 "if we get a break from the weather." Last year's attendance, he said, reached 180,000.

High mark so far, according to most Pumpkin Show veterans, was set in 1949 when 235,000 people squeezed their hilarious way into the city for the world-famous fiesta.

Among top attractions early Thursday will be the pet parade and judging of entries, scheduled to start at 2 p. m. The big Lodge and Musical Parade will be a top feature Thursday evening, being scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m.

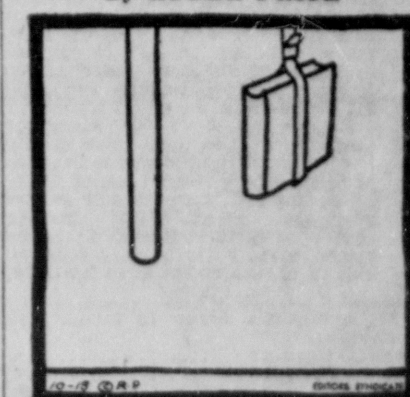

Early Pie-Baking Winners Listed

BULLETIN Mrs. Wilbur Neff of Ashville Route 2 won first place in the merchandise division of Wednesday's Bake-A-Pumpkin-Pie Contest.

Mrs. Don Miller of Circleville Route 1 took top honors in the opening contest for the any ingredient division. Both winners also took top prizes in the daily contests in last year's Pumpkin Show.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"BOY GOING TO SCHOOL ON POGO STICK"

This clever Droodle sent in by Robert L. Foster of Wichita, Kansas, gives me an idea for curing the country's traffic problem. Why not do away with all forms of transportation except Pogo Sticks? Auto Companies could retrofit and turn out Hard-Top Two-tone Pogo Sticks of even Station Wagon Models with simulated Knotty Pine Poles. Think of the fun families would have getting together on Sunday Afternoon and going for a bounce in the country. Playboys could buy low slung Pogoes with two-foot poles and Teen-Agers could build their own Hot-Rod Pogoes. And remember, for the price of one car, you can buy 600 Pogo Sticks. That should be enough to keep you "Hoppy" for the rest of your life.

Kickoff 8:30 P.M.

The football game between Circleville and Rosary Thursday night will start at 8:30, instead of the usual 8 p. m. kickoff time. The later starting time was set because of a Pumpkin Show parade scheduled for 8 p. m.

John Hodiak Dies

TARZANA, Calif. (AP) — Movie actor John Hodiak collapsed at home today shortly after getting up to go to work and died of a heart attack. He was 41.

Plainclothesmen Circulate With Crowd At Show

Two plainclothes detectives will mingle among the Pumpkin Show crowd to bolster the police protection here.

The pair are not from this area and are even unknown to members of the police department here, according to Police Chief Elmer Merriman. They will work along with Jim Creighton, famed "pickpocket" detective.

Chief Merriman said that although many officers will be concentrated in the downtown area, patrols throughout the residential areas will continue. In addition, school zone crossings will continue to be protected, he added.

The chief warned against motorists speeding through alleys trying to avoid traffic. He said that any violations caught will be brought to the police station immediately.

MOTORISTS who carelessly park their cars in alleys may find themselves facing a date in city court, the chief said. He pointed to an ordinance where alley parking is forbidden in an area bounded by Pinekey and Watt Streets, half way down E. Main St., Mound St. and Scioto St.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise issued a plea that motorists do not block alleys preventing fire trucks from answering fire calls. He also asked that motorists keep clear of fire hydrants.

He pointed out that if fire trucks are hindered from answering calls or using the hydrants a catastrophe could easily occur in case of a big fire.

Millionaire's Plane Crash Being Probed

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (U) — Was millionaire Joel W. Thorne stunting, or was he desperately trying to fly out of trouble just before his plane plunged into an apartment building, costing his own and three other lives? Civil Aeronautics Administration investigators probed deeper today for the answer.

A baby whose family was celebrating her christening, an 18-year-old bride and Thorne perished in the fiery crash and explosion which devastated two apartments of a six-unit building Monday.

The fourth victim, a 6-year-old boy, died of burns in a hospital last night. He was one of the christening party.

Frightened residents reported the single-engine plane buzzed the residential area two or three times at what seemed like rooftop height just before the crash.

"In my opinion, it would be inconceivable Thorne would be stunting in the prevailing weather, in drizzling, overcast conditions," one CAA official said.

"He was an experienced pilot and flying on instruments," another expert pointed out. "It seems unlikely he would be attempting barrel rolls or other stunts under those conditions."

Senate Leader Backs Dulles In Chinese Talks

George Wants Reds To Pledge To End Their Use Of Force

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today the United States should require a pledge by Red China against the use of force in Asia before agreeing to high-level discussion of major Far Eastern problems with the Communists.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, previously had put no specific conditions on his July 24 suggestion for an early meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

He said then such a high-level meeting should be held within six months.

He said today that he now supports Dulles' position that any near-summit meeting must await the conclusion of ambassadorial talks underway in Geneva.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday Communist China has formally raised the question of a new high-level meeting with the United States.

But he said the possibility of some agreements between American and Chinese Communist special ambassadors have not been exhausted. He made it clear he does not want to elevate the talks until there are further developments.

DULLES SAID U. S. Ambassador had proposed that the Peiping regime renounce the use of force as a means of settling international disputes. He intimated this might open the way for higher level efforts to ease tensions in the Formosa Strait area.

George said he backs this stand. He added:

"The Chinese Communists first should release the American prisoners, they have promised to free and they should give some accounting of the more than 400 soldiers who remain unaccounted for after the Korean War."

"If they will do these things and make a public pledge to give up the use of force in any settlement of the Formosa issue, then we should be prepared to go ahead with a high level conference."

'Accident Prone' Locations Listed

COLUMBUS (U) — Ohio's highway safety department has designated 95 "accident prone" locations on rural sections of the state's highways.

The report of the department's statistical division pinpoints all locations on rural state highways where five or more reported accidents took place during the first six months of this year. The report has been mailed to all state highway patrol stations and sheriffs.

In addition to showing the number of smashups, the report, broken down by counties, also lists the number of persons killed and injured in each place and gives comparisons with 1954.

Climax scenes at all-girl revues (the ones promoters call sizzling) raised theater temperatures as much as 2 degrees.

"My associates and I are making these tests solely to determine health factors involved in theater going," said the scientist.

Ike, Dulles Sharing 'Hope' For Success At Big 4 Talks

DENVER (U) — Secretary of State Dulles said after a 25-minute conference with President Eisenhower today that they share "a measured hope" for concrete results at the forthcoming Geneva foreign ministers meeting.

Dulles said that while he did not expect "spectacular results" at the meeting opening Oct. 27, "I do believe we will make some concrete progress" on the matter of unification of Germany within the framework of European security and along the road to increased contacts between East and West.

Meanwhile, the President, now getting around a bit in a wheel chair, is continuing to show daily progress from his heart attack.

In advance of today's meeting with Dulles, a medical bulletin from Fitzsimons Army Hospital reported:

"The President had an excellent night's sleep of nine hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and in a good mood."

"His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

This is the secretary's second meeting with the recuperating President in the last nine days on the subject of foreign policy.

Dulles was accompanied from Washington by Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

At a Washington news conference yesterday, Dulles said he agrees with Vice President Nixon that there is more chance for practical steps to ease East-West tensions at the Geneva conference than at any other such meeting in the last 10 years.

Dulles returned to Washington immediately after his talk with Eisenhower to brief congressional leaders on Geneva strategy.

Yesterday, for the first time, the President was lifted from his bed into a wheel chair and taken to an open terrace for 30 minutes of sun and fresh air.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, reported that Eisenhower was "quite happy" about getting into the wheel chair, and that he had hospital corpsmen "wheel him all around" the terrace.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. MARY DOHERTY
Mary Courtright Doherty, 49, of Pittsburgh, Pa., died Tuesday morning in Shady Side Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Doherty was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeffe F. Courtright, of Ashville. She is survived by her husband, James T. Doherty of Pittsburgh; two brothers, Donald P. and J. E. Courtright of Ashville, and three sisters, Mrs. Anna C. Hedges of Ashville, Mrs. Helen M. Beck of Cleveland, and Mrs. Bertha L. Clellen of Columbus.

The body will be returned to the Bastian Funeral Home of Ashville, and friends may call there after 5 p. m. Thursday.

Graveside services will be held in Reber Hill Cemetery at 10 a. m. Friday.

Plainclothesmen Circulate With Crowd At Show

Two plainclothes detectives will mingle among the Pumpkin Show crowd to bolster the police protection here.

The pair are not from this area and are even unknown to members of the police department here, according to Police Chief Elmer Merriman. They will work along with Jim Creedon, famed "pickpocket" detective.

Chief Merriman said that although many officers will be concentrated in the downtown area, patrols throughout the residential areas will continue. In addition, school zone crossings will continue to be protected, he added.

The chief warned against motorists speeding through alleys trying to avoid traffic. He said that any violations caught will be brought to the police station immediately.

MOTORISTS who carelessly park their cars in alleys may find themselves facing a date in city court, the chief said. He pointed to an ordinance where alley parking is forbidden in an area bounded by Pinckney and Watt Streets, half way down E. Main St., Mount St. and Scioto St.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise issued a plea that motorists do not block alleys preventing fire trucks from answering fire calls. He also asked that motorists keep clear of fire hydrants.

He pointed out that if fire trucks are hindered from answering calls or using the hydrants a catastrophe could easily occur in case of a big fire.

Millionaire's Plane Crash Being Probed

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (U) — Was millionaire Joel W. Thorne stunting, or was he desperately trying to fly out of trouble just before his plane plunged into an apartment building, costing his own and three other lives? Civil Aeronautics Administration investigators probed deeper today for the answer.

A baby whose family was celebrating her christening, an 18-year-old bride and Thorne perished in the fiery crash and explosion which devastated two apartments of a six-unit building Monday.

The fourth victim, a 6-year-old boy, died of burns in a hospital last night. He was one of the christening party.

Frightened residents reported the single-engine plane buzzed the residential area two or three times at what seemed like rooftop height just before the crash.

"In my opinion, it would be inconceivable Thorne would be stunting in the prevailing weather, in drizzling, overcast conditions," one CAA official said.

"He was an experienced pilot and flying on instruments," another expert pointed out. "It seems unlikely he would be attempting barrel rolls or other stunts under those conditions."

Senate Leader Backs Dulles In Chinese Talks

George Wants Reds To Pledge To End Their Use Of Force

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today the United States should require a pledge by Red China against the use of force in Asia before agreeing to high-level discussion of major Far Eastern problems with the Communists.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, previously had put no specific conditions on his July 24 suggestion for an early meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

He said then such a high-level meeting should be held within six months.

He said today that he now supports Dulles' position that any near-summit meeting must await the conclusion of ambassadorial talks underway in Geneva.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday Communist China has formally raised the question of a new high-level meeting with the United States.

But he said the possibility of some agreements between American and Chinese Communist special ambassadors have not been exhausted. He made it clear he does not want to elevate the talks until there are further developments.

DULLES SAID U. Alexis Johnson, the U. S. Ambassador had proposed that the Peiping regime renounce the use of force as a means of settling international disputes. He intimated this might open the way for higher level efforts to ease tensions in the Formosa Strait area.

George said he backs this stand. He added:

"The Chinese Communists first should release the American prisoners they have promised to free and they should give some accounting of the more than 400 soldiers who remain unaccounted for after the Korean War."

"If they will do these things and make a public pledge to give up the use of force in any settlement of the Formosa issue, then we should be prepared to go ahead with a high level conference."

'Accident Prone' Locations Listed

COLUMBUS (U) — Ohio's highway safety department has designated 95 "accident prone" locations on rural sections of the state's highways.

The report of the department's statistical division pinpoints all locations on rural state highways where five or more reported accidents took place during the first six months of this year. The report has been mailed to all state highway patrol stations and sheriffs.

In addition to showing the number of smashups, the report, broken down by counties, also lists the number of persons killed and injured in each place and gives comparisons with 1954.

TOKYO (U) — Dr. Miho Daigo of the Central Meteorological Observatory set up his sensitive recording instruments in Tokyo theaters and found:

"Tear jerker" sequences boosted the humidity as much as 10 percent—"tears probably contribute a bit" but moist sighs the most.

Climax scenes at all-gai revues (the ones promoters call sizzling) raised theater temperatures as much as 2 degrees.

"My associates and I are making these tests solely to determine health factors involved in theater going," said the scientist.

Ike, Dulles Sharing 'Hope' For Success At Big 4 Talks

DENVER (U) — Secretary of State Dulles said after a 25-minute conference with President Eisenhower today that they share "a measured hope" for concrete results at the forthcoming Geneva foreign ministers meeting.

Dulles said that while he did not expect "spectacular results" at the meeting opening Oct. 27, "I do believe we will make some concrete progress" on the matter of unification of Germany within the framework of European security and along the road to increased contacts between East and West.

Meanwhile, the President, now getting around a bit in a wheel chair, is continuing to show daily progress from his heart attack.

In advance of today's meeting with Dulles, a medical bulletin from Fitzsimons Army Hospital reported:

"The President had an excellent night's sleep of nine hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and in a good mood.

"His condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications."

This is the secretary's second meeting with the recuperating President in the last nine days on the subject of foreign policy.

Dulles was accompanied from Washington by Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

At a Washington news conference yesterday, Dulles said he agrees with Vice President Nixon that there is more chance for practical steps to ease East-West tensions at the Geneva conference than at any other such meeting in the last 10 years.

Dulles returned to Washington immediately after his talk with Eisenhower to brief congressional leaders on Geneva strategy.

Yesterday, for the first time, the President was lifted from his bed into a wheel chair and taken to an open terrace for 30 minutes of sun and fresh air.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, reported that Eisenhower was "quite happy" about getting into the wheel chair, and that he had hospital corpsmen "wheel him all around" the terrace.

Pennsy Girl Identified As Death Victim

CLEVELAND (U) — A check of fingerprints shows a leaf-covered body found in a park 10 days ago was that of Gloria Ferry, 18, of Altoona, Pa.

The girl has been missing since Sept. 12. Her mother said Gloria had received several threats after it became known she was scheduled to testify against an Altoona man, Louis Statler, 67. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Cleveland Homicide Capt. David E. Kerr said the chances "look good" that a solution of the mystery is in sight.

One of the more promising tips came from Dr. Oren H. Moore, an Altoona dentist, who told a reporter last night he had extracted two front teeth from the mouth of Gloria "about a year ago."

The partly decomposed body discovered under a pile of brush and leaves in Brookside Park had two front teeth missing.

Gloria's mother, Mrs. Charles Ferry, described Statler as a former wrestler and boxer.

According to Altoona police, Statler was arrested Aug. 20 and charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Gloria, to have been a material witness against him, disappeared from her home Sept. 12.

When the girl failed to show up at court early this month the case against Statler was postponed.

Mrs. Ferry said her daughter's life had been threatened on several occasions.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I have worked hard and lived a very conservative life, trying to educate our boys. Now the job is done, for which we are very grateful; and we feel that we owe it to ourselves to take a trip to some of the country's outstanding places—New York City, Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Due to the fact that we have never eaten in swanky restaurants, or stayed in elaborate hotels, we are conscious that we will need some briefing, and maybe rehearsals, on how to behave in these situations. Please tell me what book I can get that will supply the information we need.

D. N.

DEAR D. N.: You will find the answer to almost any question of social behavior in Amy Vanderbilt's "Complete Book of Etiquette: a guide to gracious living." That's the title. It was published in 1952 by Doubleday & Company, Inc., Garden City, N. Y., in two versions. One is indexed, at $5.75; the other is plain, at $5.

The copy I have contains the index, as a finale in 704 pages of explicit information on "every possible social problem one is likely to encounter in modern social living," says the author. She likens the book to a dictionary, introduces it as the largest and most comprehensive book of etiquette ever written, and offers it as "a reliable friend to whom one may turn a questioning glance over the years and get a helpful answer."

Scanning the index on your behalf, I note that hotel, restaurant and travel manners are well covered. For example, under the general heading of hotel, we find reservations—see pages 425-26. Here you are told how to describe the hotel accommodations you want, by letter or by wire; and how to register when you arrive.

Hotel tipping is discussed in clarifying detail on pages 642-43. Miss Vanderbilt is no advocate of lavish tipping. She shows sober respect for the component parts of a dollar. Beginning with the doorman, she reviews the list of hotel personnel, including bellhop, chambermaid, porter, checkroom attendant, elevator starter, etc., who may be entitled to an occasional dime, quarter, half dollar or

Innocent Plea Heard In Lima

LIMA (AP)—Phillip West, 49, of Lima, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of first degree murder in the shooting death of Mrs. Lillie Cotton, 47.

Sheriff Clay P. Cotterman said West admitted shooting the woman last Friday following an argument over money she said he owed her. Municipal Judge Carl M. Blank set West's hearing for Oct. 27.

even more, depending upon the case or difficulty of tasks performed for you.

Chapter 57, page 549, takes up "dining in restaurants"—and tells how to dispose of wraps or parcels or umbrella on entering; who proceeds whom to table; who gets the choice seat and so on. There is a rundown (as we journalists say) on how to order a meal, how to cope with the waiter properly, and how to pick a suitable wine if you wish to be festive.

On page 554, Miss Vanderbilt goes over the ground of calling for the bill, checking it for accuracy, quietly asking for a correction if a mistake has been made; and, again, tipping the help. Restaurant help in line for a tip includes the waiter (15 to 20 percent of the bill); maybe the cigarette girl, 10 or 15 cents; and possibly the men's and-or women's lounge attendant, a dime. The same for the hat check girl—and pay no attention to decoy quarters on the plate, Miss Vanderbilt remarks. If the doorman fetches your car, give him a quarter; if he merely blows his whistle, a dime is sufficient, our expert advises.

Discussing travel, page 33, Miss Vanderbilt has a suggestion for parents of young children that other motorists might profitably employ. She says: "If traveling by car, let soiled clothes accumulate for a day or two, then stop off at a self-service laundry, wash the clothes, have them put through a drier, or hang them to dry on wooden hangers in the car as you go on your way." I call attention to this pointer, mainly to show the down-to-earth quality of her seasoned savoir faire.

$15 Million Profit Seen For Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike is expected to show a profit of about 15 million dollars next year, the turnpike commission estimates.

The commission yesterday approved a preliminary operating budget for 1956. Revenues are anticipated at close to 18 1/4 million dollars, while operating expenses come to slightly more than three millions.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy predicted the success of the new turnpike which opened Oct. 1.

As for the second Ohio turnpike, from Cincinnati to Conneaut, Shocknessy commented it appears to be "an entirely practicable line." He said that pending further engineering reports on such things as probable revenues, "there appear to be good prospects . . . such a turnpike can be built."

The commission reported outgoing traffic jams at several toll plazas along the 241-mile east-west route during the first two weekends of operation.

Shocknessy indicated the Cleveland-Akron interchange may have to be enlarged from three to five lanes.

Executive Director Frank C. Dunbar said he is sending the anti-trust division of the U. S. Justice Department a number of bids for supplying calcium chloride, an ice and snow control chemical. Dunbar said several bore a striking similarity.

The commission also investigated the first turnpike fatality last Saturday, and informally agreed its post-accident machinery functioned perfectly.

'Wrong Number' Lawsuit Is Filed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A $15,000 "wrong number" damage suit was filed here against Southwest Bell Telephone Co.

W. D. Adams and wife claimed in their petition that their home telephone was incorrectly listed as the night number of a transfer company.

They alleged they have been awakened constantly at night by calls for transfer service.

Hamilton Church Gets Go-Ahead To Hold Services

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Free Pentecostal Church of God in Christ will be permitted to resume its services at the church near here providing it does not disturb neighbors "or do anything that would endanger the lives or health of persons residing in the area."

Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli recently issued a temporary restraining order to ban services at the church and to construction work at the building.

He issued a modifying order yesterday, however, allowing services and the construction work to be resumed if other persons aren't disturbed.

Elmer C. Sons and Marcella H. O'Hara, nearby property owners, obtained the original court order. They claimed the services were a nuisance because of noise and that use of live, poisonous snakes constituted a menace to the health and welfare of the community.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife and I have worked hard and lived a very conservative life, trying to educate our boys. Now the job is done, for which we are very grateful; and we feel that we owe to ourselves to take a trip to some of the country's outstanding places—New York City, Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Due to the fact that we have never eaten in swanky restaurants, or stayed in elaborate hotels, we are conscious that we will need some briefing, and maybe rehearsals, on how to behave in these situations. Please tell me what book I can get that will supply the information we need.

D. N.

DEAR D. N.: You will find the answer to almost any question of social behavior in Amy Vanderbilt's "Complete Book of Etiquette: a guide to gracious living." That's the title. It was published in 1952 by Doubleday & Company, Inc., Garden City, N. Y., in two versions. One is indexed, at $5.75; the other is plain, at $5.

The copy I have contains the index, as a finale in 704 pages of explicit information on "every possible social problem one is likely to encounter in modern social living," says the author. She likens the book to a dictionary, introduces it as the largest and most comprehensive book of etiquette ever written, and offers it as "a reliable friend to whom one may turn a questioning glance over the years and get a helpful answer."

Scanning the index on your behalf, I note that hotel, restaurant and travel manners are well covered. For example, under the general heading of hotel, we find reservations—see pages 425-26. Here you are told how to describe the hotel accommodations you want, by letter or by wire; and how to register when you arrive.

Hotel tipping is discussed in clarifying detail on pages 642-43. Miss Vanderbilt is no advocate of lavish tipping. She shows sober respect for the component parts of a dollar. Beginning with the doorman, she reviews the list of hotel personnel, including bellhop, chambermaid, porter, checkroom attendant, elevator starter, etc., who may be entitled to an occasional dime, quarter, half dollar or

LIMA (AP)—Phillip West, 49, of Lima, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of first degree murder in the shooting death of Mrs. Lillie Cotton, 47.

Sheriff Clay P. Cotterman said West admitted shooting the woman last Friday following an argument over money she said he owed her. Municipal Judge Carl M. Blank set West's hearing for Oct. 27.

$15 Million Profit Seen For Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike is expected to show a profit of about 15 million dollars next year, the turnpike commission estimates.

The commission yesterday approved a preliminary operating budget for 1956. Revenues are anticipated at close to 18 1/2 million dollars, while operating expenses come to slightly more than three millions.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy predicted the success of the new turnpike which opened Oct. 1.

As for the second Ohio turnpike, from Cincinnati to - to - Conneaut, Shocknessy commented it appears to be "an entirely practicable line." He said that pending further engineering reports on such things as probable revenues, "there appear to be good prospects . . . such a turnpike can be built."

The commission reported outgoing traffic jams at several toll plazas along the 241-mile east-west route during the first two weekends of operation.

Shocknessy indicated the Cleveland-Akron interchange may have to be enlarged from three to five lanes.

Executive Director Frank C. Dunbar said he is sending the anti-trust division of the U. S. Justice Department a number of bids for supplying calcium chloride, an ice and snow control chemical. Dunbar said several bore a striking similarity.

The commission also investigated the first turnpike fatality last Saturday, and informally agreed its post-accident machinery functioned perfectly.

Don't Believe Everything Heard

BALTIMORE (AP)—Driver Francis Hartlove brought his No. 6 bus to a quick stop the other day after a female passenger cried: "Wait! Hold everything until I get my clothes off!"

Hartlove spun around in his seat. The woman, fully clothed, finally managed to get her bundle of laundry through the rear door and off the vehicle.

New Storm Consciousness Seen Growing

This Year's Weather Tragedies Felt By Many Businesses

NEW YORK (AP) — Storms that have lambasted large sections of the nation with marked fury this year are making home owners, industrial management and the building industry increasingly hurricane and flood conscious.

Hurricane-resistant windows, leakproof walls, wind and water defiant foundations, bridges and highways are prime topics today in architectural and construction circles. New paints and other surface coatings, as well as new construction materials and methods are being tested in laboratories.

In addition to spectacular damage and destruction of many buildings and bridges, heavy rains and floods have ruined countless driveways, cellar walls and floors and house roofs this year. So, many a home owner is more storm conscious than ever.

Whether this year's storms have actually poured more water than ever before on the nation, or whether the crowding that comes with civilization has put more people in the paths of once out-of-the-way streams, is subject for debate. But there's little doubt that people are more anxious than ever to protect themselves and their property.

Sturdy house building is very much more in the minds of would-be home owners now. Contractors say that one housing development lost roofs in wholesale quantities in one of the big blows because builders had skimmed on roof nails.

A lot of ideas on making big buildings hurricane resistant are being pushed.

A New York skyscraper, the Socony Mobil Building, a 45-story stainless steel clad office structure, will boast 3,200 "hurricane resistant" windows. One of the secrets is a double gasket seal of polyvinyl chloride.

The Truscon Steel Division of the Republic Steel Corp. which designed and made them says it had them tested by the University of Miami. Wind and water were hurled against sample windows at velocities equal to a 145-mile-an-hour storm. Air pressure against the quarter-inch plate glass was around two thirds of a ton.

Architects say another big problem in skyscrapers is leak-proofing walls around windows.

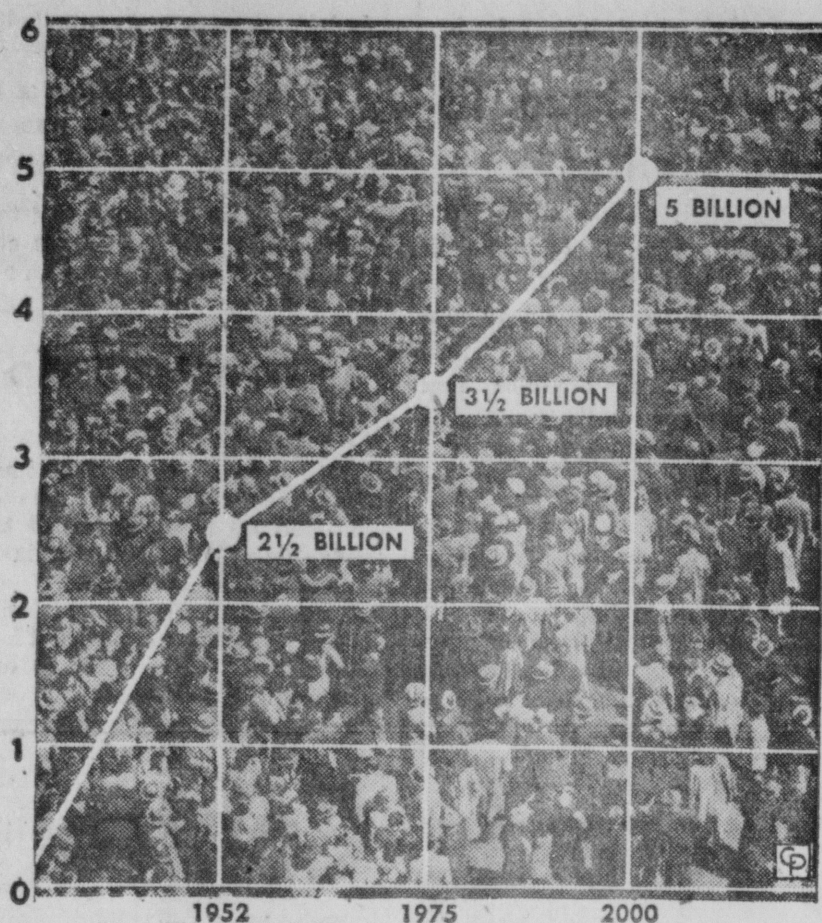

The steel industry is touting the use of more steel reinforcement in concrete in highways, driveways and foundations. This summer's storms left miles of roadbeds piles of rubble. Undermining by floods is another problem, but the steelmen say many road surfaces could have been saved with greater use of welded wire fabric in the cement.

Just Hare Today, Gone Tomorrow

HARRISBURG, Pa. — The time is coming when you won't find hide nor hare of the San Juan rabbit in the U. S. A.

Pennsylvania has just joined the list of states banning the importation of Peter Rabbit's big cousin Pedro because of his bad habits and a fatal weakness.

The San Juan rabbit not only is hard on the farmer's crops but his nocturnal digging encourages erosion. And worst of all, like European rabbits he's subject to myxomatosis, the dread virus that has virtually cleared western Europe of hares.

THIS GRAPH illustrates prospective growth of world population to twice its present size in the next 45 years, as reported at Geneva by the U.N. The report envisions this growth barring wars and economic crises. Population is increasing by 1 1/2% a year.

The judge told her it "shouldn't be too much of a sacrifice" to let her husband watch TV wrestling once a week.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The roof fell in on Leonard W. Hall when President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Before that, there was a rosy glow in the sky. Now he can't see what lies ahead.

As chairman of the Republican National Committee, it's Hall's job to lay the foundations for Republican victory in 1956.

His counterpart Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has the same kind of job for the opposition.

The Democrats have no sure-shot candidate for their party's nomination in their convention next summer, even though at the moment Adlai Stevenson may seem to hold an edge.

And before the convention is over the scramble among Democrats may bust the party wide open.

But Hall, a lifelong politician who at 55 is genial and almost bald, saw nothing like that in store for his party. On the contrary, in early September, he was in a spot Butler and any other professional politician must have envied.

To hear him talk, there were no storms ahead on his political lake. He was confident Eisenhower would run again. If Eisenhower did, with his immense popularity, he seemed a year ahead of time to have much better than a 50-50 chance of winning.

He felt that if Eisenhower ran again and won, he might, as in 1952, pull the whole party with him and give the Republicans control of Congress once more. The whole Republican party felt the way Hall did.

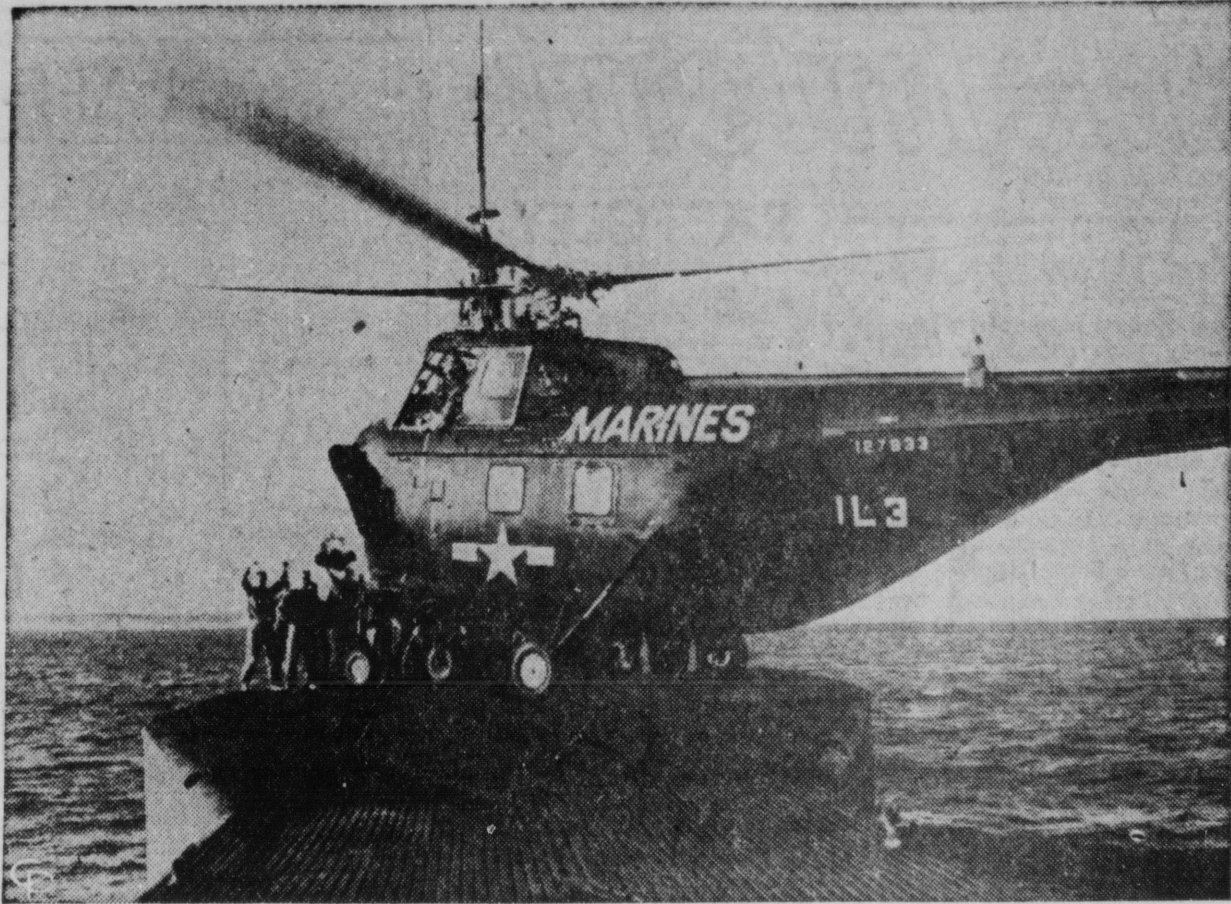

Then on Sept. 24 the President was stricken. Now Hall merely, and not too confidently, speaks about the possibility that Eisenhower may run.

If he had to bet privately, I'd guess he'd bet Eisenhower won't run. So Hall faces a tough year, just as tough as Butler's.

This month, as if accepting the idea Eisenhower wouldn't run, Hall was saying the party would win by taking "Ike's philosophy, personality and the record of his administration."

But trying to win on Eisenhower's record may not be enough, since the voters will have to make their own judgment on the Republican candidate, whoever he is. And who he may be is something Hall doesn't know now.

Youth Convicted In $82,000 Theft

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Clarence Cook, 19, of Dayton, one of the principals in last July's $82,000 "baker's dough" theft, has been found guilty of receiving and concealing stolen money.

A jury yesterday convicted Cook of receiving $20,405, part of the money taken from pie-filling buckets in the basement of Dayton baker Fred Frowein. Cook was indicted on charges of receiving $31,000.

"We don't know where the other $10,000 is," said Prosecutor H. Herbert Jackson. Cases of three other teen-agers involved in the theft have been disposed of.

Col. Carl G. Wall, manpower division chief of state headquarters, said the deferment is designed to be fair to those who might qualify for only six months active service, a provision in the Reserve Act.

MORE THAN ANATOMY

AT LEAST ONE medical school has awakened to the fact that man is not just flesh and bones, anatomy and brain, diseases and lack of them. It has decided that man is a "whole being" and is trying to impress this fact on the graduates it turns out.

Older physicians have been complaining for years that young doctors out of medical school are devoted to specialization to the point that they all but divide up the patient finger by finger, toe by toe and muscle by muscle.

The trend to specialization was inevitable. There is too much knowledge of medicine and surgery for one man to absorb it all. The medical student must decide what field he will select for his own.

But specialization seems to have progressed to the point that some doctors are ignorant of some of the basic facts of existence—one of which is that man has emotions and intelligence and lives on them as well as on physical attributes.

The University of Maryland School of Medicine has decided to put students through a course in "Man and his Environment." This will touch on economics, history, physics, genetics, psychology and other subjects. It is designed to get the doctor's eye off the human organs so he can see the individual as a person.

BAD PATTERN

BRITISH PRIME Minister Anthony Eden has announced that Britain will cut its armed forces by 12½ per cent—down to 700,000 men. Reasons for this cut seem to be domestic politics and internal economic problems.

This is likely to set a bad pattern. Coming at this particular time, it makes Britain appear to be accepting the Soviets peace gestures as genuine. It is not likely that Eden is fooled by the "hand of friendship" for he must know from experience that it hides an iron fist.

Disarmament is a fine goal. But it must not be one-sided. The West can hardly afford to cut its forces substantially at this time. The Russians would then be encouraged to undertake aggression in the vacuum left as Allied forces moved out.

Most important, though, is the effect on other, smaller nations—those near the borders of Soviet puppets. If the West relaxes its guard how can these countries—Greece, Austria, Italy, Turkey—maintain the vigilance and opposition to communism that their positions require?

Only the strong can remain free. The British should not permit themselves to be fooled into thinking that all danger is past and now would be a good time to put hoods over their guns.

CITY 'FARMERS'

A BILL HAS been introduced in Congress to create a Department of Urbiculture, an urban department of agriculture, as it were, but no one seems to be taking it seriously. There's an inevitable facetious note in dispatches concerning hearings on the bill which have been conducted by the House Committee on Government Operations.

Yet the principle on which the measure is based couldn't be more serious and plausible. This is, simply, that city folks could use as much guidance in the art of existence as their so-called country cousins.

It's pointed out that when the Department of Agriculture was set up in 1862, approximately 80 per cent of the nation lived on farms. Today approximately 85 per cent mandated as dowry. An average figure reached recently is equivalent to $3,000.

This desire of the refugee teenagers to support themselves is revolutionary in this part of the world. In the rest of the Arab countries the sons often remain dependent on their parents until they are well in their 20s. The girls after their schooling remain home until they are married.

But apparently the last thing this generation of educated refugee girls want to do is to marry a fellow refugee and live in poverty.

Almost all the refugee girls of age attend schools financed by the United Nations. Passing in

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I was sitting with some newspapermen recently and the point was made that there are not enough controversies in the newspapers. Another added the opinion that the reason why there are not so many controversies is that people are happy that after years of quarrelling over the New Deal and War and Communists, folks are glad to have some peaceful relief.

It all depends upon the generation. Older folks can grow very disputatious about the vile manners of the younger generations and surely their manners are not Chesterfieldian. A Beau Brummel of the present era seems to be a fellow in knee pants with a black coat and a pink shirt. To the sober, he resembles the sort of pink thing one might see from drinking too much Irish whiskey or undiluted vodka. Young men resist neckties or wear them open at the throat, and as for the gals—Heavens to Betsy!

But if one is among the quite young, he can get himself into an argument on the virtues of Dixieland Jazz or the superiority of Bach over the Romantics, or the need for a 1950-1960 F. Scott Fitzgerald, a novelist who will understand this age, or the need for a religious emotional expression.

Politics! Well, really the younger people wonder what the older people get so excited about. "Define for me," shouts youth, "the precise difference between a Republican and a Democrat." "I want no loose oratory," says youth. "Tell me with precision of thought and language what the difference is between an Eisenhower Republican or a Taft Republican or between Stevenson and Harriman. If you can't be precise, I'll vote for Margaret Truman or Princess Margaret or any Margaret. What difference does it really make?"

The last great issue that excited youth was Joe McCarthy. They were violently for or against McCarthy and their violence was full of excitement and disputation. But they are not arguing that way about anything now, not even about Peren's baby harem or whether Ingrid Bergman should be admitted into the United States to do a picture and restore her fortune. None of this excites the young.

In my day, when I was very young, we could get up an argument about Woman Suffrage but we all, old and young, know now that women have not purified politics. In fact, let's face it: politics seems to make women more like what the women used to believe men were like in the old days.

So no one talk about what has happened to the emancipated woman. I recently raised that question with teen-aged girls, but they had never heard about the emancipation of women. They expected to find a guy who would support them as best he might, but they did not expect too much and figured that they would have to work for a living for a longer time than their mothers did, but it was on account of taxation.

One can start plenty of controversies because they exist but they are more personal than general. What about delayed marriages on account of conscription? There is something that gets young people so sore that they do not delay the marriages at all. They get married as soon as they can, even while at school, and hope for the best. Is it good?

of the population resides in urban communities.

Even a cursory examination of larger cities convinces the visitor that city dwellers could use help in urban husbandry of a type that farm residents receive from such sources as extension agents and various specialists. City youth, in particular, need a constructive approach to life along the line afforded by 4-H activities.

It's unlikely that a Department of Urbiculture will ever come to pass. Urban dwellers, as a general rule, are too highly geared to the treadmill of life to permit an organized bureaucracy to show them other ways of life.

SYNOPSIS
Death of Roger Brindle, an extremely popular syndicated newspaper columnist who wrote of the people he knew in his New England hometown of Stowe, opens new chapters in the lives of his young widow, Carol, and the people of whom he had written so well. These include Albert and Bessie Kibbee and their son, Clyde, and Joe and Ethel Hattery, all of whom live in cottages on the grounds of the Brindle home. Another cottage occupant is Shandy Stowe, the reputedly wealthy former owner of the estate. On the heels of learning of a cryptic note regarding Roger's death, Shandy is told by Carol that a short writer, Lois Fleming, is going to help her write a series of stories on Roger. Shandy had known Lois before. Lois arrives in Stoweville 10 days before she is expected.

CHAPTER EIGHT

LOIS FLEMING'S strongest impression was that the house reflected two opposing personalities and had failed to blend them into a harmonious whole. A curving stairway with a mahogany banister, so exquisitely proportioned that it seemed to float in space, rose from the big hallway. Over the balcony railing hung a heavy tapestry, which was lovely in its own way, but made a curious impression of weighing down the soaring line, clipping the wings of a thing in flight.

She turned back to the hallway as Paula came breathlessly down the stairs.

"Aunt Carol is so sorry the cottage isn't ready for you, but it will be fixed up this afternoon. I'll take you there now so you can unpack. Aunt Carol doesn't usually get up much before noon, but she said to tell you she's looking forward to meeting you at lunch at one o'clock." She got this message off in one breath and then opened the door and called shrilly, "Clyde!"

In a few moments a gangling young man, who was acquiring a permanent stoop in an effort to look smaller than he was, came in. Lois was the kind of person who could not sit near the stage at concerts because she suffered all the tortures of the musician's stage fright. This young giant was so agonizingly shy that a visible aura of his suffering seemed to her to engulf him like a cloud.

He was awkward, as though he had never learned how to manage so much in the way of arms and legs. He had a homely face, red hair and level eyes that brushed

Paula Case briefly in a mingling of hope and doubt.

The girl made a peremptory gesture. "Take Mrs. Fleming's bags up to the cottage."

He gave Lois a swift glance and then said, "Okay, Paula. Give me the key and I'll open the cottage for you."

The girl observed Lois' surprise. "Oh," she said carelessly, "Mrs. Fleming, this is Clyde Kibbee."

"Kibbee!" Lois exclaimed in her warm, friendly voice. "But I didn't know that Albert and Bessie had a son."

The boy flushed brick red and Lois, torn between an instinctive desire to make him feel at ease and a woman's instinctive impatience with a man who needs so much reassurance, said, "Please don't think I am impertinent when I speak of Albert and Bessie. But I've read about them so long. You must have some of the best-known parents in America."

"And the nicest," he said gravely. He went out on the porch and gathered up the luggage, suitcases, bathbox, cosmetic case and typewriter.

"Well," Paula said uncertainly, "I guess you might as well see the cottage anyhow." She led the way along the path Clyde Kibbee had taken, skirting the garage and plunging into the woods.

"Um, cool," Lois said gratefully as they stepped into the dark shadow of the trees. "After New York this is heaven."

"I'm afraid the place will seem awfully neglected. Aunt Carol is giving you Roger's cottage, the one he worked in. It—no one has been inside since he died. Aunt Carol just locked the door. We couldn't bear—" she broke off again, her sandy lashes bright with tears.

She is too tense, too high strung, Lois thought. I do hope I haven't run into a case of incipient hysteria.

As though aware of Lois' thought, the girl defended herself. "It's only ten days since he died. You can't get used to it in ten days. He was—Roger made everything seem wonderful. I can't explain but I hope you'll be able to get that into what you write about him. Aunt Carol might not tell you things like that about him."

Soothing Baths Help To Relieve Itching

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PROPER clothing and special baths can do a lot to help relieve generalized itching.

Woolen underwear frequently is the source of the trouble. If you suspect this is the villain, try changing to silk or cotton.

Beneficial Bath
Ill-advised bathing may be extremely harmful. The right kind of bath, on the other hand, may be very beneficial.

The bath water should be tepid, starting at 78 degrees Fahrenheit and gradually reducing it to 68 degrees. Or, you can follow your bath with a cold spray.

It's usually advisable that the bath water contain soothing agents such as bran, menthol, sodium bicarbonate or others.

Oatmeal Bath

An oatmeal bath is easy to make and generally is very soothing.

Place two cupsful of oatmeal in a gauze bag and boil for five minutes. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of sodium bicarbonate in the bath water and then add the bag of oatmeal.

Squeeze the bag. This forces out the tiny particles which increase the soothing action. Don't rub yourself dry. Pat gently with a soft hand towel.

Then apply powders or creams recommended by your doctor.

To Prevent Itching

Good anti-itching medications include olive oil, alcohol, tincture of benzoin, resorcin, chloral and weak acetic acid. But don't use them without first getting your doctor's advice.

Röntgen rays provide a sedative action and are one of the best forms of obtaining relief from itching.

There's a lot the doctor can do for you. So, don't just scratch and suffer. Itching is a symptom; it means something is wrong. See your doctor right away. He can help you.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Q. G.: What causes blisters on the bottom of the feet?

A. Answer: Blisters on the bottom of the feet may come from ringworm of the feet, from rubbing or from infections with various types of bacteria.

An examination to find the cause is needed before treatment can be carried out.

Circleville city council Tuesday learned that the installation of a new sanitary sewer system to take care of the north end will cost approximately $56,000.

Yvonne Blannery, a 15-year-old silver blonde junior in Adelphi High School won the Miss Pumpkin Show crown while Miss Linda Kay Sharpe, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sharpe of 368 E. Franklin St., won the Little Miss Pumpkin Show throne.

Local draft board officials learned why Walter E. Brungs of Amanda Route 1 failed to report for pre-induction examination—he was fighting in Korea.

Wives In Gaza Get Scarce

By DAVID HINNAWI

(For Hal Boyle)

CAIRO (P)—Wives are getting scarcer every day in the Gaza strip.

Living there are 250,000 refugees who fled Palestine homes at the outbreak of hostilities between Arabs and Jews in 1948. They are on U. N. dole in camps in the Egyptian held part of Palestine.

As soon as the maturing refugee girls receive their school diplomas they are off to seek jobs in distant Arab countries where demands for teachers, nurses and secretaries are great.

Inflation of dowries has resulted from the shortage of eligible maidens. Bachelors have complained of the fabulous sums demanded as dowry. An average figure reached recently is equivalent to $3,000.

This desire of the refugee teenagers to support themselves is revolutionary in this part of the world. In the rest of the Arab countries the sons often remain dependent on their parents until they are well in their 20s. The girls after their schooling remain home until they are married.

But apparently the last thing this generation of educated refugee girls want to do is to marry a fellow refugee and live in poverty.

Almost all the refugee girls of age attend schools financed by the United Nations. Passing in examinations is in many cases 100 per cent.

As soon as the girls receive their diplomas they apply for jobs in Kuwait, Iraq, Libya or Saudi Arabia.

Demand for educated people and the heat which discourages people from working in these underdeveloped but oil-rich countries keep wages high. Salaries are often ten-fold those for similar jobs in Cairo, Alexandria or Beirut.

Many girls plan to work two or three years in these desert countries and save enough money for a college education. Some plan to go to the United States. Most of these girls send money to their parents back home—a novelty in the Middle East.

MORE THAN ANATOMY
AT LEAST ONE medical school has awakened to the fact that man is not just flesh and bones, anatomy and brain, diseases and lack of them. It has decided that man is a "whole being" and is trying to impress this fact on the graduates it turns out.

Older physicians have been complaining for years that young doctors out of medical school are devoted to specialization to the point that they all but divide up the patient finger by finger, toe by toe and muscle by muscle.

The trend to specialization was inevitable. There is too much knowledge of medicine and surgery for one man to absorb it all. The medical student must decide what field he will select for his own.

But specialization seems to have progressed to the point that some doctors are ignorant of some of the basic facts of existence—one of which is that man has emotions and intelligence and lives on them as well as on physical attributes.

The University of Maryland School of Medicine has decided to put students through a course in "Man and his Environment." This will touch on economics, history, physics, genetics, psychology and other subjects. It is designed to get the doctor's eye off the human organs so he can see the individual as a person.

BAD PATTERN
BRITISH PRIME MINISTER Anthony Eden has announced that Britain will cut its armed forces by 12½ per cent—down to 700,000 men. Reasons for this cut seem to be domestic politics and internal economic problems.

This is likely to set a bad pattern. Coming at this particular time, it makes Britain appear to be accepting the Soviets peace gestures as genuine. It is not likely that Eden is fooled by the "hand of friendship" for he must know from experience that it hides an iron fist.

Disarmament is a fine goal. But it must not be one-sided. The West can hardly afford to cut its forces substantially at this time. The Russians would then be encouraged to undertake aggression in the vacuum left as Allied forces moved out.

Most important, though, is the effect on other, smaller nations—those near the borders of Soviet puppets. If the West relaxes its guard how can these countries—Greece, Austria, Italy, Turkey—maintain the vigilance and opposition to communism that their positions require?

Only the strong can remain free. The British should not permit themselves to be fooled into thinking that all danger is past and now would be a good time to put hoods over their guns.

CITY 'FARMERS'
A BILL HAS been introduced in Congress to create a Department of Urbiculture, an urban department of agriculture, as it were, but no one seems to be taking it seriously. There's an inevitable facetious note in dispatches concerning hearings on the bill which have been conducted by the House Committee on Government Operations.

Yet the principle on which the measure is based couldn't be more serious and plausible. This is, simply, that city folks could use as much guidance in the art of existence as their so-called country cousins.

It's pointed out that when the Department of Agriculture was set up in 1862, approximately 80 per cent of the nation lived on farms. Today approximately 85 per cent

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

I was sitting with some newspapermen recently and the point was made that there are not enough controversies in the newspapers. Another added the opinion that the reason why there are not so many controversies is that people are happy that after years of quarrelling over the New Deal and War and Communists, folks are glad to have some peaceful relief.

It all depends upon the generation. Older folks can grow very disputatious about the vile manners of the younger generations and surely their manners are not Chesterfieldian. A Beau Brummel of the present era seems to be a fellow in knee pants with a black coat and a pink shirt.

To the sober, he resembles the sort of pink thing one might see from drinking too much Irish whiskey or undiluted vodka. Young men resist neckties or wear them open at the throat, and as for the gals — Heavens to Betsy!

But if one is among the quite young, he can get himself into an argument on the virtues of Dixieland Jazz or the superiority of Bach over the Romantics, or the need for a 1950-1960 F. Scott Fitzgerald, a novelist who will understand this age, or the need for a religious emotional expression.

Politics! Well, really the younger people wonder what the older people get so excited about. "Define for me," shouts youth, "the precise difference between a Republican and a Democrat." "I want no loose oratory," says youth. "Tell me with precision of thought and language what the difference is between an Eisenhower Republican or a Taft Republican or between Stevenson and Harriman. If you can't be precise, I'll vote for Margaret Truman or Princess Margaret or any Margaret. What difference does it really make?"

The last great issue that excited youth was Joe McCarthy. They were violently for or against McCarthy and their violence was full of excitement and disputation. But they are not arguing that way about anything now, not even about Peren's baby harem or whether Ingrid Bergman should be admitted into the United States to do a picture and restore her fortune. None of this excites the young.

In my day, when I was very young, we could get up an argument about Woman Suffrage but we all, old and young, know now that women have not purified politics. In fact, let's face it: politics seems to make women more like what the women used to believe men were like in the old days.

So no one talk about what has happened to the emancipated woman. I recently raised that question with teen-aged girls, but they had never heard about the emancipation of women. They expected to find a guy who would support them as best he might, but they did not expect too much and figured that they would have to work for a living for a longer time than their mothers did, but it was on account of taxation.

One can start plenty of controversies because they exist but they are more personal than general. What about delayed marriages on account of conscription? There is something that gets young people so sore that they do not delay the marriages at all. They get married as soon as they can, even while at school, and hope for the best. Is it good?

of the population resides in urban communities.

Even a cursory examination of larger cities convinces the visitor that city dwellers could use help in urban husbandry of a type that farm residents receive from such sources as extension agents and various specialists. City youth, in particular, need a constructive approach to life along the line afforded by 4-H activities.

It's unlikely that a Department of Urbiculture will ever come to pass. Urban dwellers, as a general rule, are too highly geared to the treadmill of life to permit an organized bureaucracy to show them other ways of life.

SYNOPSIS

Death of Roger Brindle, an extremely popular syndicated newspaper columnist who wrote of the people he knew in his New England hometown of Stowe, opens new chapters in the lives of his young widow, Carol, and the people of whom he had written so well. These include Albert and Bessie Kibbee and their son, Clyde, and Joe and Ethel Hattery all of whom live in cottages on the grounds of the Brindle home. Another cottage occupant is Shandy Stowe, the reputedly wealthy former owner of the estate. On the heels of learning of a cryptic note regarding Roger's death, Shandy is told by Carol that a ghost writer, Lois Fleming, is going to help her write a series of stories on Roger. Shandy had known Lois years before. Lois arrives in Stowe 10 days before she is expected.

CHAPTER EIGHT

LOIS FLEMING'S strongest impression was that the house reflected two opposing personalities and had failed to blend them into a harmonious whole. A curving stairway with a mahogany banister, so exquisitely proportioned that it seemed to float in space, rose from the big hallway. Over the balcony railing hung a heavy tapestry, which was lovely in its own way, but made a curious impression of weighing down the soaring line, clipping the wings of a thing in flight.

She turned back to the hallway as Paula came breathlessly down the stairs.

"Aunt Carol is so sorry the cottage isn't ready for you, but it will be fixed up this afternoon. I'll take you there now so you can unpack. Aunt Carol doesn't usually get up much before noon, but she said to let you see looking forward to meeting you at lunch at one o'clock." She got this message off in one breath and then opened the door and called shrilly, "Clyde!"

In a few moments a gangling young man, who was acquiring a permanent stoop in an effort to look smaller than he was, came in. Lois was the kind of person who could not sit near the stage at concerts because she suffered all the tortures of the musician's stage fright. This young giant was so agonizingly shy that a visible aura of his suffering seemed to her to engulf him like a cloud.

He was awkward, as though he had never learned how to manage so much in the way of arms and legs. He had a homely face, red hair and level eyes that brushed

Paula Case briefly in a mingling of hope and doubt.

The girl made a peremptory gesture. "Take Mrs. Fleming's bags up to the cottage."

He gave Lois a swift glance and then said, "Okay, Paula. Give me the key and I'll open the cottage for you."

The girl observed Lois' surprise. "Oh," she said carelessly, "Mrs. Fleming, this is Clyde Kibbee."

"Kibbee!" Lois exclaimed in her warm, friendly voice. "But I didn't know that Albert and Bessie had a son."

The boy flushed brick red and Lois, torn between an instinctive desire to make him feel at ease and a woman's instinctive impatience with a man who needs so much reassurance, said, "Please don't think I am impertinent when I speak of Albert and Bessie. But I've read about them so long. You must have some of the best-known parents in America."

"And the nicest," he said gravely. "He went out on the porch and gathered up the luggage, suitcases, hatbox, cosmetic case and typewriter."

"Well," Paula said uncertainly, "I guess you might as well see the cottage anyhow." She led the way along the path Clyde Kibbee had taken, skirting the garage and plunging into the woods.

"Um, cool," Lois said gratefully as they stepped into the dark shadow of the trees. "After New York this is heaven."

"I'm afraid the place will seem awfully neglected. Aunt Carol is giving you Roger's cottage, the one he worked in. It—no one has been inside since he died. Aunt Carol just locked the door. We couldn't bear—" she broke off again, her sandy lashes bright with tears.

She is too tense, too high strung, Lois thought. I do hope I haven't run into a case of incipient hysteria.

As though aware of Lois' thought, the girl defended herself. "It's only ten days since he died. You can't get used to it in ten days. He was—Roger made everything seem wonderful. I can't explain but I hope you'll be able to get that into what you write about him. Aunt Carol might not tell you things like that about him."

Pickaway Parents, Teachers View Logan Elm Style Revue

4-H Achievement Program Presented

The members of the 4-H clubs of the community presented a program during a meeting of the Pickaway Township Parent-Teacher Organization, held in the school auditorium.

Francis Dean, advisor of the boys' club presented awards to the members, following a report of the club activities during the past year.

A summary of the activities of the girls' club was given by a club member, Miss Sidney Graves, who also presented a corsage to Mrs. B. W. Young in appreciation of her interest in the youth of the community.

The members of the Logan Elm Sunny Sewers presented a style revue during the session. Mrs. Frank Graves and Mrs. Vera Miller are the club advisors.

A business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. C. Watson. Devotions, led by Mrs. Virgil Hayslip, were followed by group singing of "America, the Beautiful".

Robert E. Seward, school superintendent, introduced the teachers. Attendance awards were received by grades two and seven. The organization voted to donate $25 to Community Fund.

Room mothers were introduced as follows: Grade 1, Mrs. Roger May; grade 2, Mrs. Robert Young; grade 3, Mrs. Raymond Moats; grade 4, Mrs. Harold Riffle; grade 5, Mrs. William Bitzer; grade 6, Mrs. Bryan Riffle.

Mrs. Watson named her standing committees for the coming year as follows:

Ways and means: Mrs. Harold Wentz, Mrs. Raymond Moats, Mrs. Howard Rhoads Jr., Lawrence McKenzie and Harold Alkire. Welfare: Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. J. L. Chilcote.

Membership drive: team 1, Mrs. Wesley Graves Jr. and Raymond Moats; team 2, Mrs. George Miller and Philip Wilson.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Burnell Newhouse and her committee at the close of the program.

Monrovia Club Conducts Flower Show At Session

The members of the Monrovia Garden Club held a flower show following a regular meeting in the home of Mrs. James Willis.

The three top winners in the various classes of arrangements were as follows:

A mass arrangement of zinnias: first, Mrs. Charles Fleming; second, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, third, Mrs. Francis Furniss.

An arrangement for a coffee table: first, Mrs. Fleming; second, Mrs. Kenneth Gossard.

An arrangement for a dining room table, dahlias predominating: first, Mrs. Furniss; second, Mrs. Gossard; third, Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Roberta Hedges served as judge of the flower arrangements. A bulb exchange followed the show.

Attendance response during a business session was on the prettiest with material for Fall. Miss Patsy Willis was welcomed into the club as a new member. She is to serve as reporter for the group.

Assisting hostesses were: Mrs. Charles Fleming, Mrs. Charles Woods, and Mrs. Donald Smith.

A November session of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. Harry Dick, who will be assisted by Mrs. John Huffman, Mrs. John Seible, Mrs. John O'Day and Mrs. Leo Holtzmueller.

Mrs. Drumm Is Hostess To Aid Of East Ringold

The Ladies Aid Society of the East Ringold Church met in the home of Mrs. Lewis Drum of Amanda, with 14 members and seven visitors present.

The session opened with group singing, and prayer was offered by Mrs. Earl Peters. Scripture and devotions were given by the president, Mrs. Austin Hurley, who used as her text, Ephesians 6:11-18.

A program following the business session consisted of a duet by Mrs. Louis Koch and Mrs. Melvin Barr. A reading was presented by Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Charles Compton, and Miss Mary Kaiser. The meeting was dismissed by prayer given by the Rev. Fred Ketner.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Drum, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Roy Fraizer. Hostess for the November meeting of the Society will be Mrs. Orwin Drum of Circleville Route 4.

Two Million Vote Turnout Seen In Ohio

State Officials Guess
November Poll Total
To Be Below Average

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Election officials estimated today that only about two million Ohioans will vote in the Nov. 8 election.

They figured 4½ million in the state are old enough to vote.

But ballot casting usually is light in "odd-year" elections and they said 1955 apparently will run true to form despite some hot local contests.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown delayed his usual pre-election forecast pending later word from county election boards.

Others expressed belief three proposed changes in the State Constitution would win approval. But they appeared skeptical at this time over chances for a CIO Union initiated proposal to boost maximum jobless benefits from $33 to $50 a week and permit supplemental wage programs.

The constitutional amendments would authorize a 150 million dollar bond issue for new schools, hospitals and other public buildings and allow salary increases for judges and public officials during their terms.

Election of Ohio's first state school board of 23 members—one in each congressional district—and some 1,500 local special issues apparently failed to arouse much voter interest, officials asserted. School bonds, tax levies, local option and other issues comprised the total.

They said reports from most of the 37 counties requiring voters to sign up by last Sept. 28 showed registrations generally light.

Mahoning County was an exception. Officials reported registrations jumped more than 8,700 but that only about 3,200 of that total were in Youngstown where two-thirds of the county's voters live.

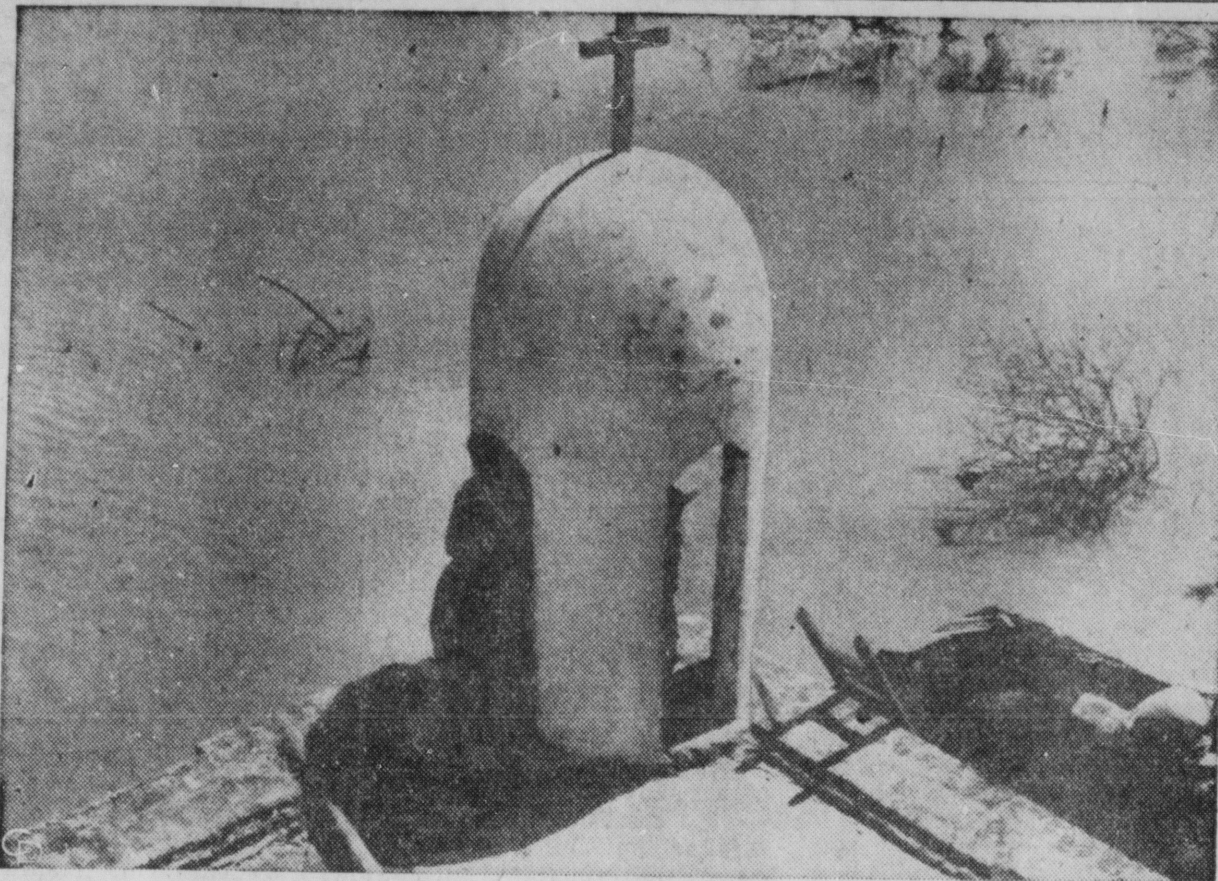

Registrations also were high in Chillicothe where a proposed quarter form of government is up for decision. And registrations ran strong in Scioto County where Portsmouth voters will decide whether to trade a city manager for a mayor as the top administrative officials.

Butler County registrations dropped below the 1954 total but ran high for an odd-year election. Montgomery County reported fewer registrations than at any time since 1947. And Newark in Licking County had a registration drop of about 3,500 despite spirited contests for mayor and city council posts.

Election officials said prospective light voting in Cleveland could have a marked effect on statewide totals. With Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze assured another term in Cleveland's Oct. 4 primary election decision, officials said November voting probably would drop.

About 138,000 voted in the primary. Officials speculated that contests for council seats in a number of Cleveland suburbs might affect the Cuyahoga County vote total. But they counted on a light turnout in the county that usually casts about a fifth of the state's ballots.

The statewide vote totaled 2,191,448 in 1953, the last odd-year election. The high was 2,303,860 in 1949 when colored oleo and office-type ballot questions won approval. The 1951 total was 1,956,835.

Mental Patients Hurt In Mishap

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—The staked siding of a 1½-ton truck bed gave way on a curve under the weight of 72 women mental patients here yesterday. Thirty were spilled onto the pavement and seven of them hurt seriously.

The truck was en route to a farm where the Negro patients from the State Hospital for the Insane here were to pick cotton.

Dr. Ira C. Long, superintendent of the hospital, said it was customary to send patients to nearby farms during cotton-picking season. Farmers pay $3 a hundred pounds for picked cotton. The money is paid to the hospital general fund.

Prayers Offered For Little Girl

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—All day Tuesday prayers were offered and now there is hope that 7-year-old Sharon Lou Edwards will survive a long and difficult heart operation.

Members and friends knelt and prayed for the little girl with a rare heart ailment from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Westwood Christian Baptist Church.

Then the Rev. Hollie Conley announced word had come from the University of Minnesota Hospital in Minneapolis that Sharon Lou survived the operation to close a four-inch gap between chambers of her heart. The gap was discovered shortly after birth.

Whooping Cranes Seen In Refuge

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP)—Three whooping cranes, vanguard of an expected flock, were sighted on Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge Tuesday by refuge manager Julian Howard.

Howard said he saw the birds, two adults and a youngster, from a refuge patrol boat just before noon.

Last fall, he said, 21 adults that had flown north in the spring came back with no young. The cranes are America's tallest waterfowl and scarcest species.

Canadian wild life officials spotted six young on the nesting range this summer.

Sokolsky's These Days

There is a controversy that might have run in the newspapers for months in the old days, with all the great of the Earth speaking pro and con and advising all and sundry. And there would be photographs of student families on every campus and the professors sounding off on whether these married students work better than boys and girls who go necking of a Friday night.

What is important? How does anyone know except that he can say what interests him most. The followers of Father Feeney in Boston are young; Tanglewood attracts the young who can fight through the night on why Handel's "Water Music" is ruined by most orchestras; at Jimmy Ryans, youth listens to Dixieland Jazz and says it is music; in the M.R.A., youth is on a permanent religious revival.

No controversies! If one is young, there is never a moment without one. The real trouble is that the adult generation has grown too old and too tired and it turns to the comic strip which was originally done for children, while the children know exactly what E equals MC square means.

Five Generations Of Law Degrees

EINCASTLE, Va. — John James Allen has on his office wall the law certificates of his great-great-grandfather, his great-grandfather, his grandfather, his father and himself.

The oldest was made out in 1790 and the second in 1818. His great-grandfather's is especially interesting—he was president of the Virginia Supreme Court (1851-1865) and a Congressman. Grandfather got his certificate in 1854.

Father was the only one not named John James Allen. He was William Ross Allen, licensed to practice in 1892. The present John James Allen got his certificate in 1932.

Since 1887, the U. S. Weather Bureau has recorded only one hurricane in January.

Cash Advance Melts Under City Expenses

Wear and tear on the city's general fund continues, even with the latest $10,000 advance received from the county on anticipated tax distribution.

Pointing to a current general fund balance of $1,533.04, Chairman George Crites of city council's finance committee gloomily commented:

"Our $10,000 advance didn't last long. But we should be able to get along until the end of the month, and by that time we expect more money (in tax distributions) from the county."

Council had voted at its previous session to ask for the advance, one of many requested—and granted—in recent years to keep the municipal wheels turning.

AT ITS regular meeting Tuesday night, council approved a report by City Auditor Lillian Young for the first 18 days of October. Showing funds, receipts, expenditures and balances, the report was as follows:

General Fund, $15,562.40, $13,555.96; $1,533.04; Water Works Operating Fund, $3,142.72, $6,998.76, $38,461.64; Sewage Disposal Fund, $821.05, $1,487.08, $9,027.72; Auto Street Repair Fund, $557.27, $965.20, $4,801.18; Gasoline Tax Fund, none, $1,206.60, $3,148.72; Water Works Trust Fund, $40, none, $2,820; Police Pension Fund, none, $324.65, $4,412.88; Firemen Pension Fund, none, $125, $21,766.68.

PEGGY JENNO, 4, has only gratitude for Barbara Powrosnik, 18, who made a running catch as the little girl fell from the window of her apartment in Detroit. Peggy is in the hospital recovering from assorted bruises that might have been serious if Barbara had not been so quick.

Iron Lungs To Get Air Conditioning

Polio patients confined to uncomfortable warm iron lungs are promised relief by air conditioning. It's the idea of Tohru Inouye of the research staff of the University of Illinois Research and Educational hospitals.

He began research two years ago after he noticed that many polio patients were near heat exhaustion while sealed in the mechanical respirators. Temperatures inside the iron lung have gone as high as 107 degrees, he said.

At Inouye's suggestion, Edward Kurek, an air conditioning engineer, redesigned an air diffuser. The unit enables temperatures to be maintained at 80 to 85 degrees.

Two Million Vote Turnout Seen In Ohio

State Officials Guess
November Poll Total
To Be Below Average

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Election officials estimated today that only about two million Ohioans will vote in the Nov. 8 election.

They figured 4½ million in the state are old enough to vote.

But ballot casting usually is light in "odd-year" elections and they said 1955 apparently will run true to form despite some hot local contests.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown delayed his usual pre-election forecast pending later word from county election boards.

Others expressed belief three proposed changes in the State Constitution would win approval. But they appeared skeptical at this time over chances for a CIO Union initiated proposal to boost maximum jobless benefits from $33 to $50 a week and permit supplemental wage programs.

The constitutional amendments would authorize a 150 million dollar bond issue for new schools, hospitals and other public buildings and allow salary increases for judges and public officials during their terms.

Election of Ohio's first state school board of 23 members—one in each congressional district—and some 1,500 local special issues apparently failed to arouse much voter interest, officials asserted. School bonds, tax levies, local option and other issues comprised the total.

They said reports from most of the 37 counties requiring voters to sign up by last Sept. 28 showed registrations generally light.

Mahoning County was an exception. Officials reported registrations jumped more than 8,700 but that only about 3,200 of that total were in Youngstown where two-thirds of the country's voters live.

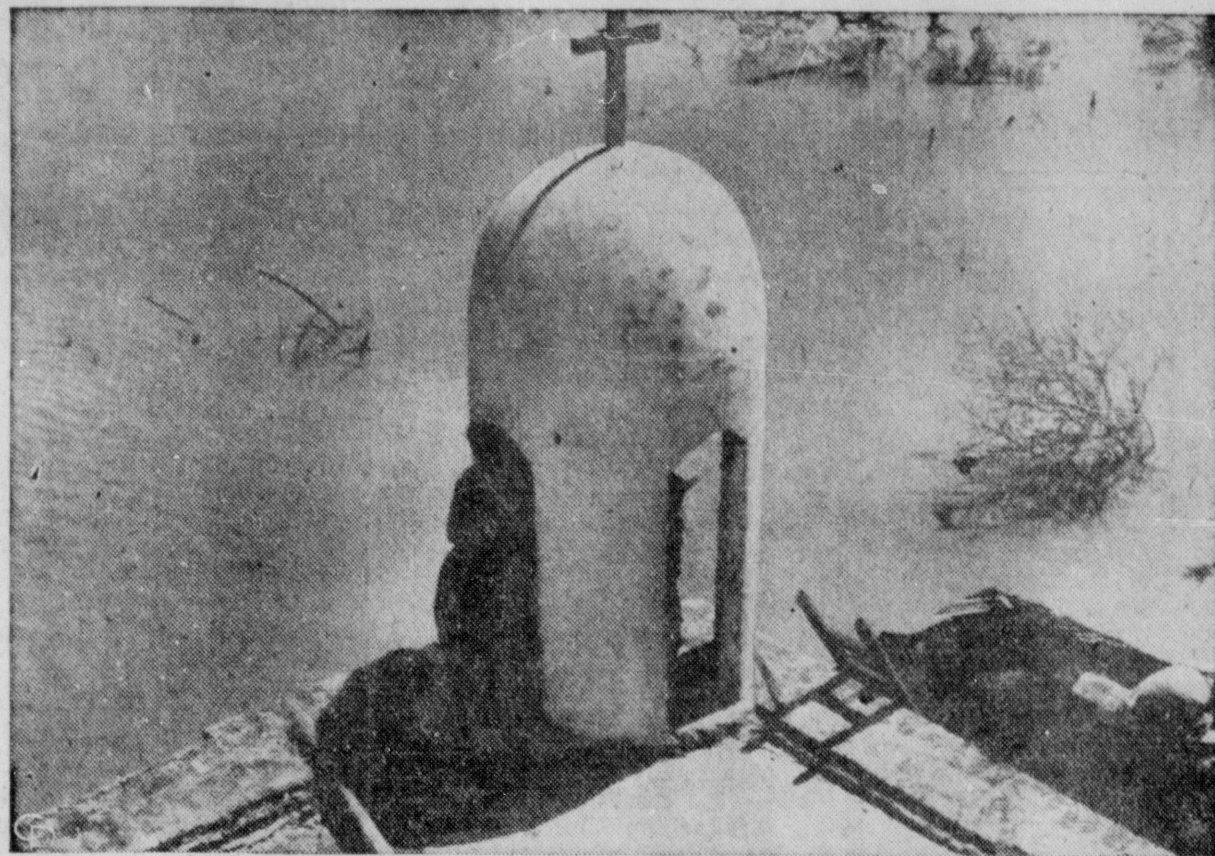

Registrations also were high in Chillicothe where a proposed quarter form of government is up for decision. And registrations ran strong in Scioto County where Portsmouth voters will decide whether to trade a city manager for a mayor as the top administrative officials.

Butler County registrations dropped below the 1954 total but ran high for an odd-year election. Montgomery County reported fewer registrations than at any time since 1947. Duck Hunters In Ohio Get Sharp Warning

Protection Of Mallards Being Pushed By U.S. Wildlife Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior McKay today warned duck hunters—particularly those in Ohio—about plans to restrict the taking of game farm mallards which have been released "into the wild."

McKay's warning was coupled with another by John L. Farley, director of the fish and wildlife service, against possible use in Ohio of any such mallards as live decoys.

Both McKay and Farley also said hunters must conform to all elements of the federal waterfowl hunting regulations in shooting mallards.

A restocking program in northwestern Ohio, carried on primarily by hunting clubs, was reported to have resulted in release of about 6,500 mallard ducks this summer.

These northwestern Ohio duck hunters, numbering some 10,000, contend federal enforcement of hunting regulations is too strict. They say the key question is: When does feeding ducks turn into baiting and luring them within gun range?

Recently M. Allen Clemons of Port Clinton, president of the Ohio Waterfowl Assn., expressed belief a test case would be started on the opening day of the season.

The 70-day duck season opened yesterday in Ohio. As of last night fish and wildlife service officials here had not heard of any arrest which might lead such a court test.

McKay said in a statement all hunters taking mallard ducks, which have been reared in captivity but released for restocking purposes, must count such birds in their bag and possession limits.

He said he issued his warning to "safeguard any individuals who might unknowingly be harvesting these pen-reared birds in violation of the federal regulations."

McKay stated that "in all cases where these game-farm mallards have been released into the wild, the fish and wildlife service has taken the position that the birds immediately assume the status of wild populations and consequently must be harvested in accordance with applicable federal regulations."

Farley's statement, prepared before the season opened, warned in detail about limitations on recovery of the released mallards.

He said that even after efforts are made to retrieve those birds there will remain "a residual number of birds which, while free-flying and semi-wild, will have tremendous values as live decoys."

"Providing club owners and others who have made such releases make an honest effort to shoot released birds in the course of their normal hunting operations," Farley said, "and through such an effort indicate that they are hunting released birds and not using them, consideration of these facts will be made in the enforcement of the live decoy regulation."

"If, on the other hand, there is evidence that an effort is being made to preserve the released stock and select only wild birds attracted by them to the area, all convincing cases of violation of the live decoy regulation will be handled in the usual manner."

Farley observed that "in embarking upon the program of mallard releases, participants in the Ohio endeavor knew they were assuming a certain risk in that conflict with federal laws might develop."

The Ohio Wildlife Division has sided with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in rejecting the proposal of the northwestern Ohio duck hunters that they be allowed to shoot ducks within 100 yards of feeding. In return for this right the

Touchdown Run Ends In Hospital
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Twelve-year-old Gustave Seasongood made a touchdown run in a game on a vacant lot and wound up at a hospital.

Unable to stop himself at the end of his run, the boy plunged his left hand through a window of a building adjacent to the lot. He was treated at Frankford Hospital for a deep gash on the wrist.

Ashville-Jackson Game Saturday May Decide 6-Man Football Title

A game which could decide the six-man football championship for 1955 will be played Saturday night at the Fairgrounds.

As if to add more suspense to the contest, the contest is the final game of the triple header that night and will not get under way until approximately 9 p. m. Walnut and Stoutsville clash in the opener while Williamsport faces Pickaway in the middle encounter.

Both the Broncos from Harrison Township and Jackson Township's Wildcats are unbeaten in four games. Each has allowed the opposition but 18 points—but Ashville has scored 154 points to Jackson's 123.

There are still two darkhorse teams in the race. Darby's vastly improved Trojans have a 3-2 record, while Power Pickaway is even at 2-2. With only two weeks remaining, none of these teams can afford losses.

ASHVILLE GETS what seems like a break by meeting Walnut in the final week. The Tigers, last year's league champs, look like anything but that this term. The Broncos probably have too much for Walnut—but if Ashville should take the victory for granted there might be trouble.

On the other hand, Jackson comes up against the Pirates of Pickaway. After having to meet Ashville and then Pickaway will be quite a test for Jackson.

Greenberg Buying Frisco Seals '9'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The deal by Hank Greenberg, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, to buy the San Francisco Seals baseball club appears in the bag.

"We have reached a verbal agreement on the sale," said Greenberg last night after conferring with Damon Miller, president of the Little Corp., controlling the Seals franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

The offer made to Greenberg, Miller said, would be a $100,000 deal. "Hank" would have to assume a $50,000 bank note, pay off $30,000 still owed the Pacific Coast League, and purchase 100 per cent of the common stock, worth $20,000."

Pete Jokanovich, reserve end on the Navy football team, was co-captain of Al Jolson's Sonny Boys team when he was 11 and 12. The team played at halftime between pro games in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Ashville boasts one of the best balanced teams seen here in some time. Coach Russ Gregg has the enviable position of being able to substitute almost at will and know that they will be able to score.

THE BRONCOS, in addition to their offensive prowess, have a fine defense. Opposing teams have found it very difficult to run or pass against the high riding Broncos.

If any favorite has to be picked it should be Ashville. They seem to have a lot more of everything and their bench strength, which seems inexhaustible at times, will probably make the difference.

The Walnut-Stoutsville game is nearly a toss up. The Indians have shown a little better defense than the Tigers but lack experience.

Pickaway should be able to bounce back into the win column at the expense of Williamsport. The Deers have just had too much tough luck this season.

PROPOSED LAW
To increase unemployment compensation benefits.
(Proposed by Initiative Petition)
A majority vote is necessary for passage.

The proposed unemployment compensation law provides for increased weekly benefits, increased dependency allowances, increased duration of benefits, places the burden of proof upon applicants, provides supplemental payments to claimants whose claims are delayed by the unreasonable action of employers, and provides that payments to a claimant under a guaranteed period wage plan shall not affect the weekly benefit amount of claimants under the unemployment compensation law of the State of Ohio.

SHALL THE PROPOSED LAW TO INCREASE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BENEFITS BE ADOPTED?

United States of America } ss.
State of Ohio }
Office of the Secretary of State }
I, TED W. BROWN, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the ballot as shown above is the prescribed form for the General Election to be held November 8, 1955.

Witness my hand and official seal at Columbus, this 22nd day of September, 1955.

TED W. BROWN
Secretary of State

Does the ballot tell you all you want to know? Does it say whose proposed law? Does it say how much more is being asked in unemployment payments for how long and for whom? Does it say how much the proposed law will cost if passed by your vote and put on the statute books? It does not... so here are the facts:

WHOSE PROPOSAL IS THIS?
Number 4 on a separate ballot on Election Day is a bill by the Congress of Industrial Organizations (the CIO) to increase unemployment payments. The CIO is disgruntled over recent action of the Ohio Legislature, your elected law-making body, in refusing its exorbitant demands for higher payments and is trying now to "sell" its issue to the people.

The CIO's demands exceed unemployment payments paid anywhere in the U. S. A.

If the CIO succeeds in by-passing the legislature this time, it will have the green light for more fantastic initiative proposals in the future. Stop this self-interest drive now!

HOW MUCH MORE FOR NO WORK?
The new maximum weekly benefit, if enacted into law at the polls, would be $59! That's $1.48 per hour for a 40-hour week of no work! Compare that with the new Federal Minimum Wage Law which only requires a dollar an hour for actual work. The CIO asks also that the maximum

Jobless pay period be increased from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks! Think of it! Nine months! The simple arithmetic is:
39 x $59 = $2,301 TAX FREE

It means that persons out of work — many of them abusers of the plan — would get up to $2,301 for nine long months of idleness! A nice vacation on the sweat of honest labor!

WHO RECEIVES WORKLESS PAYMENTS?
The CIO claims only willing workers "actively seeking work," as the law requires, will be paid compensation. But every citizen knows how badly even the existing set-up is abused.

In 1954 alone, more than 64,000 persons worked in this state, then went to another state while drawing unemployment benefits from Ohio. They went to Florida, California and elsewhere... many of them loafing in the sun while others paid the bill.

If these abuses occurred under a lower rate of hand-out, imagine what it will amount to if the CIO is successful!

Its bill is an open invitation to "free-loading" at public expense!

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST YOU?
If the bill is passed, it will cost an officially estimated additional $47,500,000.00 per year at least.

The CIO is trying to fool the public — that includes all of us — into thinking this increase will not raise taxes and prices. You hear the CIO's line every day. They say unemployment compensation is not a new or increased tax. This is not even a half-truth.

It really means hidden taxes. Ohio employing firms pay into an unemployment compensation fund. The more they pay, the higher their expenses. The higher their expenses, the higher their asking prices for goods and services.

Who says raising unemployment benefits won't raise taxes? Those taxes mean higher prices for everything you buy.

Duck Hunters In Ohio Get Sharp Warning

Protection Of Mallards Being Pushed By U.S. Wildlife Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior McKay today warned duck hunters—particularly those in Ohio—about plans to restrict the taking of game farm mallards which have been released "into the wild."

McKay's warning was coupled with another by John L. Farley, director of the fish and wildlife service, against possible use in Ohio of any such mallards as live decoys.

Both McKay and Farley also said hunters must conform to all elements of the federal waterfowl hunting regulations in shooting mallards.

A restocking program in northwestern Ohio, carried on primarily by hunting clubs, was reported to have resulted in release of about 6,500 mallard ducks this summer.

These northwestern Ohio duck hunters, numbering some 10,000, contend federal enforcement of hunting regulations is too strict. They say the key question is: When does feeding ducks turn into baiting and luring them within gun range?

Recently M. Allen Clemons of Port Clinton, president of the Ohio Waterfowl Assn., expressed belief a test case would be started on the opening day of the season.

The 70-day duck season opened yesterday in Ohio. As of last night fish and wildlife service officials here had not heard of any arrest which might lead such a court test.

McKay said in a statement all hunters taking mallard ducks, which have been reared in captivity but released for restocking purposes, must count such birds in their bag and possession limits.

He said he issued his warning to "safeguard any individuals who might unknowingly be harvesting these pen-reared birds in violation of the federal regulations."

McKay stated that "in all cases where these game-farm mallards have been released into the wild, the fish and wildlife service has taken the position that the birds immediately assume the status of wild populations and consequently must be harvested in accordance with applicable federal regulations."

Farley's statement, prepared before the season opened, warned in detail about limitations on recovery of the released mallards.

He said that even after efforts are made to retrieve those birds there will remain "a residual number of birds which, while free-flying and semi-wild, will have tremendous values as live decoys."

"Providing club owners and others who have made such releases make an honest effort to shoot released birds in the course of their normal hunting operations," Farley said, "and through such an effort indicate that they are hunting released birds and not using them, consideration of these facts will be made in the enforcement of the live decoy regulation."

"If, on the other hand, there is evidence that an effort is being made to preserve the released stock and select only wild birds attracted by them to the area, all convincing cases of violation of the live decoy regulation will be handled in the usual manner."

Farley observed that "in embarking upon the program of mallard releases, participants in the Ohio endeavor knew they were assuming a certain risk in that conflict with federal laws might develop."

The Ohio Wildlife Division has sided with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in rejecting the proposal of the northwestern Ohio duck hunters that they be allowed to shoot ducks within 100 yards of feeding. In return for this right the

Smith, Carter Due For Title Bout Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith, a young fellow who has yet to cash in financially on the fact he is lightweight boxing champion of the world, makes his first defense of the crown tonight against Jimmy Carter, a three-time title holder.

Smith, a Cincinnati, won the championship from Carter, a New Yorker, in a bout in Boston last June 29.

The two sharp-punching Negroes will go 15 rounds or less in the Cincinnati Garden. The bout at 9 p. m. EST will be televised nationally with the area within 75 miles of Cincinnati blacked out.

The most prevalent guesses were that there would be a crowd of 9,000 or so on hand for a direct view of the scrap.

Carter generally was being rated a slight betting favorite to become the first four-time champion in the division in history. He already is the first three-timer.

Smith hasn't had a fight since he won the championship so he hasn't had a pay day as title holder.

Even though he is the champ, his guarantee from promoter Sam Becker of $9,000 is exactly the same as that given Carter. They also are supposed to share equally in the television money.

Greenberg last night after conferring with Damon Miller, president of the Little Corp., controlling the Seals franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

The offer made to Greenberg, Miller said, would be a $100,000 deal. "Hank" would have to assume a $50,000 bank note, pay off $30,000 still owed the Pacific Coast League, and purchase 100 per cent of the common stock, worth $20,000."

Pete Jokanovich, reserve end on the Navy football team, was co-captain of Al Jolson's Sonny Boys team when he was 11 and 12. The team played at halftime between pro games in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

OFFICIAL QUESTIONS AND ISSUES BALLOT VOTE BALLOT WITH AN "X"

PROPOSED LAW

To increase unemployment compensation benefits.

(Proposed by Initiative Petition)

A majority vote is necessary for passage.

The proposed unemployment compensation law provides for increased weekly benefits, increased dependency allowances, increased duration of benefits, places the burden of proof upon applicants, provides supplemental payments to claimants whose claims are delayed by the unreasonable action of employers, and provides that payments to a claimant under a guaranteed period wage plan shall not affect the weekly benefit amount of claimants under the unemployment compensation law of the State of Ohio.

YES	NO
SHALL THE PROPOSED LAW TO INCREASE UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION BENEFITS BE ADOPTED?

United States of America } ss.
State of Ohio
Office of the Secretary of State

I, TED W. BROWN, Secretary of State of the State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the ballot as shown above is the prescribed form for the General Election to be held November 8, 1955.

Witness my hand and official seal at Columbus, this 22nd day of September, 1955.

TED W. BROWN
Secretary of State

Does the ballot tell you all you want to know? Does it say whose proposed law? Does it say how much more is being asked in unemployment payments for how long and for whom? Does it say how much the proposed law will cost if passed by your vote and put on the statute books? It does not . . . so here are the facts:

Jobless pay period be increased from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks! Think of it! Nine months! The simple arithmetic is:

39 x $59 = $2,301 TAX FREE

It means that persons out of work—many of them abusers of the plan—would get up to $2,301 for nine long months of idleness! A nice vacation on the sweat of honest labor!

WHO RECEIVES WORKLESS PAYMENTS?

The CIO claims only willing workers "actively seeking work" as the law requires, will be paid compensation. But every citizen knows how badly even the existing set-up is abused.

In 1954 alone, more than 64,000 persons worked in this state, then went to another state while drawing unemployment benefits from Ohio. They went to Florida, California and elsewhere . . . many of them loafing in the sun while others paid the bill.

If these abuses occurred under a lower rate of hand-out, imagine what it will amount to if the CIO is successful!

Its bill is an open invitation to "free-loading" at public expense!

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST YOU?

If the bill is passed, it will cost an officially estimated additional $47,500,000.00 per year at least.

The CIO is trying to fool the public— that includes all of us—into thinking this increase will not raise taxes and prices.

You hear the CIO's line every day. They say unemployment compensation is not a new or increased tax. This is not even a half-truth.

It really means hidden taxes. Ohio employing firms pay into an unemployment compensation fund. The more they pay, the higher their expenses. The higher their expenses, the higher their asking prices for goods and services.

Who says raising unemployment benefits won't raise taxes? Those taxes mean higher prices for everything you buy.

Many Unusual Incidents Spiced Major Loop Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Many unusual and bizarre incidents spiced the major leagues in 1955.

- For example, did you know that:
- 1. A pitcher worked four scoreless innings with a fractured wrist?
- 2. A runner scored from first on a bunt?
- 3. A batter hit a legitimate home run and only was credited with a double?
- 4. A starting pitcher made only one pitch, yet was charged with a defeat?

Let's examine these more closely.

1. Cincinnati righthander Bud Podbielan slid into second base in the third inning against Brooklyn and hurt his right wrist. Despite some pain, he remained in the game and pitched scoreless ball until the seventh. X-ray the next day revealed a fractured wrist and Podbielan was sidelined for 10 weeks (June 7 at Brooklyn).

2. Chico Carrasquel of the White Sox was on first when Nellie Fox bunted down the third base line. Gus Triandos, Baltimore third sacker, left third uncovered in making the play on Fox. Carrasquel rounded second and moved to third, where he was safe on a close play. When the Orioles argued with the umpire without calling time, Carrasquel scooted home without drawing a throw (Aug. 23 at Chicago).

3. Pitcher Don Newcombe of the Dodgers belted a long drive to the top of the right center field screen. The ball landed in the street and Newcombe circled the bases. The Cardinals argued that the ball had passed through a hole in the screen and were upheld. Under the ground rules, the blow became a double.

However, three days later an investigation developed that there was no hole anywhere in the vicinity of where Newcombe's drive was hit (June 4 at Brooklyn).

4. Baltimore lefty Art Schallrock started against Kansas City. On the first pitch, Vic Power of the Athletics singled to left. Schallrock then complained of a twinge in his left shoulder and asked to be relieved. Power eventually scored the first of three A's runs. Baltimore never caught up, so Schallrock was charged with the loss (Aug. 3 at Baltimore).

State Agency Says 'No' To Makeup Races

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Racing Commission has rejected a proposal to allow tracks to make up rained-out races.

The proposal, in the form of a rule change, would have allowed makeup races "at the rate of one race per date or on additional dates within the limits set for the meet."

Action was deferred on rules to: Exempt only county and independent fairs with an average daily handle of less than $5,000 from paying a urine and saliva test fee on racers. The fee is now paid by the commission.

Add the word "external" to a regulation banning use of internal medication on a horse within 48 hours of a race.

Require filing of an inventory of drugs or chemicals in tack kits to safeguard against horse "doping."

The commission adopted a revised rule banning anyone 16 years old or under from track grandstands or club houses where bet-

Top Defenses Seen Key To Grid Chiefs

NEW YORK (AP)—Defense is king in college football this year; that's why Michigan and Maryland are setting the mid-October pace.

The Wolverines and the Terrapins top the nation's grid giants by making their breaks while on defense and capitalizing on them. You can't prove their strength by their yardage totals.

In its last three games, Michigan has scored only one of eight touchdowns on a long drive. Four of the scores were set up by fumble recoveries, one by an intercepted pass and another by a blocked kick. The six usually were within 25 yards of the enemy goal.

Michigan has forced four opponents to fumble 19 times and has recovered on 11 occasions. The Wolverines have intercepted eight passes and allowed only 12 completions of the 46 aerials launched against them. They have yielded a mere two touchdowns.

A harrowing 13-12 opener with Missouri convinced Maryland of the need to make adjustments. With revamped defenses the Terps won a bone rattling 7-0 decision over favored UCLA Sept. 24.

The key play of that game came when Maryland center Bob Pellegrini slammed into UCLA's Doug Peters who was about to dive over the goal line, separated him from the ball and recovered on the Terp 3. Maryland went on to hold the Bruins' vaunted ground game to a minus 21 yards — ruining the slick UCLA reverses which had averaged nine yards a try in '54. Maryland's five game rushing defense average is 39.8 yards—best in the country.

Turpin Is KO'd, Retires From Ring

LONDON (AP)—Randy Turpin's decision to quit the ring opened the door of opportunity today to another British light heavyweight, Trinidad's Yolande Pompey.

Turpin, the former world middleweight champion, announced his retirement last night after he was knocked out in the fourth round by Gordon Wallace, an unknown Canadian.

Promoter Jack Solomons, who had plans to match Turpin with world light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, made a quick switch and threw his backing to Pompey.

Kiner Selected As Padres Boss

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Former National League slugger Ralph Kiner, his home run hitting days over, now must connect at the gate in his new job as general manager of the San Diego Pacific Coast league club.

Kiner, 32, yesterday signed a one year contract as front-office boss of the Coast League Padres at a reported salary of $25,000.

He promptly hired his old Pittsburgh teammate, Bob Elliott, 39, to be field manager of the club,

Gatski Pointed For 100th Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—Frank Gatski, 240-pound center for the Cleveland Browns, goes after his 100th pro football game without relief next Sunday against Green Bay.

The 33-year-old West Virginian, with the Browns since they were organized in 1946, says he has no thought of retiring.

Gatski inherited the regular center job when Mike Scarry retired in 1948 and has been the only man in the middle of the Browns' offense ever since.

Spartan Star Is Back Of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Fullback Gerry Planutis of Michigan State, who plunged for the winning touchdown against Notre Dame last Saturday, was selected as the Associated Press back of the week today.

Not only did Planutis go over for the winning touchdown, but he set the stage for MSU's final TD in the Spartan's 21-7 triumph by recovering an Irish fumble on the Notre Dame 16 in the last quarter. And he converted all three points.

After the game he was awarded the ball by his teammates for his tremendous work.

Council Elects Lee Cook To Represent City's Second Ward

Newcomer Gets Post Vacated By Ray Cook

New Snag Appears In Planning For Rosewood Sewer

Well aware that they will hold their next regular meeting only a week before the Nov. 8 municipal elections, Circleville's lawmakers Tuesday night juggled a number of sizzling issues—and decided to let the hottest sizzle awhile longer.

The city legislators held frequent recess huddles—in which no formal action can be taken—to discuss the various issues among themselves. The results of some of these time-out discussions were later seen in action for the record.

At the beginning of the session, council elected Lee Cook to fill the seat left vacant when Ray Cook moved his home from Circleville. The two men are not related, but both are Democrats. Lee Cook is unopposed on the Nov. 8 ballot for councilman from the city's second ward—the post formerly held by Ray Cook.

Prior to his plans to leave the city, Ray Cook filed for councilman-at-large in next month's voting.

Lee Cook was elected unanimously by his six colleagues, being nominated by Councilman Richard Penn, Republican. Council President Ben Gordon pointed out that Cook could have been elected by acclamation, but that a roll call vote was "best for the record".

GORDON immediately administered the oath of office to the new member, who then participated in the remainder of the meeting. Cook indicated a deep interest in all that transpired, but explained he would not be able to announce a stand on vital questions until he has had an opportunity to familiarize himself with details. He will serve as chairman of council's important or finance committee, intended to be the gateway for all new legislation. Other members are Penn and Councilman Harold Clifton.

A short time after Cook was seated, council was obliged to review in outline the old headache of "tangled" sewer lines throughout the community—the problem brought about by storm water draining into sanitary sewers, and sanitary sewer lines draining into storm sewers. (See separate story)

Next, after a recess on the matter, council in formal session heard Orin C. Stout report on an engineering study he made of plans for a "temporary relief" sewer in the vicinity of Rosewood Ave. Council, at its previous meeting, had agreed to have the plans studied when residents of the area renewed protests against foul septic tank conditions.

There are no sanitary sewers in the area, and residents of the neighborhood were said to have agreed to meet the costs of a sewer to bring at least temporary facilities to approximately 30 homes.

However, Stout told council that, in his belief, the plans drawn up by residents of the area were not feasible. He detailed a number of technical reasons to explain why. No spokesman was present for the property owners involved.

COUNCILMAN John Robinson said a study of the problem in the Rosewood-Parkview-Highland section would be continued on a top-priority basis. "This thing is so important that we'll call a special meeting of council if necessary to speed a satisfactory solution," he said.

After Stout told of making his on-the-spot study of the sewer plans proposed by the residents, Councilman Boyd Horn asked: "Were any of them (the property owners) around when you made your survey?"

"Two or three of them were out there," Stout replied. "They seemed willing to pay the whole costs."

He went on, however, to explain why he could not recommend approval of the proposal as it was outlined to him for study. Among other objections, he indicated, would be prohibitive costs for each of the property owners affected.

City Utilities Manager Ervin Leist then told council how he was informed that not all of the residents of the area, located immediately north of Ted Lewis Park, are "in accord" with the plans as drawn. Leist took part in the discussion only to relay the information, and not to voice a stand for or against the temporary sewer plans.

COUNCIL NEXT heard a petition from property owners who asked that a north-south alley between Corwin and Ohio streets be widened. The location is immediately south of the Circleville High School and Corwin grade school vicinity.

Purpose of the request apparently was to help safeguard children from traffic hazards, but most of the lawmakers claimed to be puzzled by the idea. It was finally decided to have the matter taken up with the city board of education.

Crites assured his fellow lawmakers that he "walked through that alley every day of my life while I was a boy and I never ran into any traffic hazards."

To which, Councilman Boyd Horn, in favor of granting the request, snorted:

"That was in the horse and buggy days!"

This led to a brief exchange over how many horses and buggies were in Circleville at that time. It was also pointed out that the community had at least one "electric automobile" when Crites was a boy.

Council felt the school board should make its views public on the matter because of the expanded school building and playground facilities in that locality.

COUNCIL then turned to a proposal to relieve Police Chief Elmer Merriman of his city court bailiff duties and increase his salary as chief, an arrangement long advocated by Safety Director Miller Fissell to permit the chief to give more time to his department. The ordinance was passed. (See separate story)

Council also passed an ordinance under which Assistant City Solicitor Kenneth Robbins will be paid $648.03 for services in the city's behalf.

The last ordinance to be placed before council for the evening was a measure that would make speed limits within the city, under city law, conform to those set by state statute. Council held it for further study.

Prior to adjournment, council again discussed the problem of illegal sewer taps throughout the municipality.

Pataskala Trio Killed By Train

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A Baltimore and Ohio passenger train sliced a car in half at a crossing in nearby Summit Station yesterday, killing a father and his two daughters, authorities said. The man's wife was seriously injured.

The Licking County sheriff's office identified the victims as John S. Stewart, 66, of nearby Pataskala, Rt. 3, and his children, Sandra, 4, and Jacquelin, 3.

Stewart's wife, Ruth, 38, was reported early today in "poor" condition at Newark Hospital after both her legs were amputated in surgery.

The Stewarts have five other children, deputies said.

New Products On Market Include Silent Cuckoo Clock

NEW YORK (AP)—Floor coverings are the big news in new products this week, and they come in squares, strips and inlaid polka dots. There also is a dumb cuckoo clock without a cuckoo.

Thick squares of cotton carpet with adhesive on the back is the newest idea for covering your floors. The 18-inch squares come in 12 different colors. The high pile carpet squares have cushions molded to the carpeting. You peel the paper backing from the adhesive, and press the square to the floor with your hand to anchor it. Allen Industries of New York has begun distribution in New York and is getting ready to start in Chicago, Miami and St. Louis.

Strips of linoleum 24 inches wide and in any length are being made by Armstrong Cork Co. of Lancaster, Pa., in 15 different patterns. The new width is to permit easy do-it-yourself installation.

Polka dots are inlaid in bakelite vinyl floor tile to give a new festive air to your home. Robbins Floor Products Inc. of Tullahoma, Ala., makes the tile by cutting out three different sizes of polka dots in four colors and putting them into other tiles that come in six different colors. When the 12-inch tiles are finished, they have 33 dots each.

Nurse Qualities Told In Speech

CINCINNATI (AP)—A nurse is only as good a nurse as she is a person, the Practical Nurse Assn. of Ohio has been told.

"It is not as difficult to learn nursing skills as it is to acquire the fine qualities of womanhood," Mrs. Fern Goulding of Indianapolis said in a speech. "The understanding heart and the gentle touch are still the finest attributes of a woman, and a nurse," she said. Mrs. Goulding, president of the National Assn. for Practical Nurse Education, said other necessary attributes necessary are honesty, integrity, dependability, spiritual convictions, and belief in man.
